

House Leaders Aim At Civil Rights Bill Passage by Tonight

Majority Cuts Off Debate
In Order to Force Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted today to cut off debate on the civil rights bill in an effort to bring it to a final vote this afternoon.

Using their heavy majority to stifle Southern talk against the bill, the civil rights forces rammed through a debate limiting motion by 211-73.

Under it all debate on the controversial job equality section will end at 1 p.m. (EST). Three more minor titles remain to be acted on before a final vote can be taken, and each one will also probably be subject to a time-limit.

Foes of the bill, chiefly Southerners, could still cause difficulties and delay in reaching a final roll call vote.

A demand for a fully printed copy of the bill—containing all amendments so far adopted—can be made by any member. Such a demand could hold up the final vote for several hours. There could also be demands for a roll call on each of the amendments adopted—and so far there have been 23, with several more likely.

The House met early and was prepared to sit late in an effort to get the 10-point bill to a final vote.

The biggest question was what final form the employment section might take.

The Southern opposition made only a token effort to knock the section out of the bill during a 10-hour session Saturday and concentrated with some success on amendments designed to make it unwieldy, if not unworkable.

They also succeeded in using up so much time the leadership was forced to abandon its effort to reach a final vote Saturday night.

Republicans, who had hoped to leave town for the start of a week of politicking at Lincoln Day rallies, tried to keep the House in session all night, if necessary, to pass the bill. They failed, 169-159, to keep the legislative session going and then lost 229-175 when they tried to block adjournment.

The long Saturday session was marked by the first successful attempt by Southerners to get amendments approved and over the bipartisan forces supporting the bill.

They got enough Republican help to add discrimination based on sex to the bill's ban against discrimination in employment because of race, religion or national origin.

They also won enough Republican support to exempt religious schools from coverage by the proposal and successfully supported a Republican amendment that would prevent any employer who refused to hire an atheist from being charged with discrimination.

When it looked as though an amendment to include discrimination because of age might be added too, the civil rights force had rallied enough votes to kill it, 123-94, calling the vote "a real test of responsibility" for those who professed to be trying to help Negroes gain better employment opportunities.

Water Plant to Be Constructed At Guantanamo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced today that the services of a number of civilian workers are being terminated at the Guantanamo Naval Base and a new permanent water production plant will be installed there.

The statement was issued after a special Navy survey group had returned from a flying visit to Guantanamo and submitted its recommendations to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The actions were described as a "follow-up on the President's announced intention to move the naval base at Guantanamo toward greater self-sufficiency."

A Pentagon spokesman said he did not know yet how many of the 3,000 Cuban nationals working on the base would be fired, or exactly when this would happen.

Sports Fans and Competitor Defect

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — Thirteen sports fans from Eastern European Communist countries and one East German woman Olympic competitor have defected, authorities reported today.

Innsbruck police said seven Hungarians, five Czechs and an East German doctor who came here to attend the Winter Olympics events had asked asylum in Austria.

7-Hour Ordeal in Cave Ends for Trapped Boys

PLATTEVILLE (AP) — Two boys trapped in a Grant County cave by a rockfall Sunday were pulled to safety seven hours later by Platteville firemen who used sledge hammers to enlarge another opening.

"It was all hand work in the solid rock," said Fire Chief Corwin Bishop. "We were afraid to use a machine because of the chance of another cave-in."

Perry Oats, 13, and John Wilson, 14, were pulled out unharmed and returned to the Platteville homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Oats and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Wilson.

"They were scared and a little cold," Bishop said. The boys were trapped at 2 p.m. and freed seven hours later.

They crawled into the cave on the Paul Bonnin farm, about four miles west of Platteville. The cave is part of a natural fault in solid rock. The boys were some distance into the fault, which wanders under a bluff, where a cavern behind blocked their escape.

They found another small hole about 100 yards away and began to shout. Their cries were heard by Bonnin, who located them and called for help.

Bishop said entrances to the cave found in recent years have been plugged up, but added, "You know how boys are, they always find more."

2 Americans Die, 23 Hurt in Viet Nam Blast

2 Bombs Set Off
By Terrorists to Wreck Bleachers

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Two bombs planted by terrorists destroyed a bleachers during a softball game in Pershing Stadium Sunday night. Two U.S. servicemen were killed and 23 other Americans were injured.

An entire American family was injured. The father was kept in the hospital, but his wife and their young daughter were released after treatment. Three other women also were wounded slightly.

Vietnamese police reported they had arrested three suspects in the bombing. The bombs had been planted under six inches of earth about 20 feet apart beneath the bleachers and presumably were set off electrically by Communist Viet Cong terrorists from some distance away.

Official Statement
Names of the victims have not been released pending notification of their next of kin.

In Washington the State Department issued a statement saying,

"This is the most serious of the series of incidents which the Viet Cong have perpetrated against the Americans, starting in 1957. We are resolved to continue extending full assistance to the government and people of Viet Nam in their struggle to put an end to such Communist terrorism."

The carefully prepared bombing brought to three the toll of U.S. servicemen's deaths and to more than 27 the number of Americans wounded by Viet Cong guerrilla action in the Saigon area in a week.

More Bombings Likely
It was feared more such bombings would be directed by W.L. Thornton, the carrier's chief operating officer, at more than $250,000.

Saboteurs Sought As Train Wreckers

91-Car Freight Dynamited in
Florida; $250,000 Damage

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Investigators sought today to track down saboteurs who dynamited a 91-car freight train and a work train derrick of the strike-harassed Florida East Coast Railroad.

No one was injured in the blasts Sunday—10 miles apart—which caused damage estimated by W.L. Thornton, the carrier's chief operating officer, at more than $250,000.

Member of Soviet Top Security Agency Asks Asylum in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today that Yuri I. Nossenko, 36-year-old officer of the KGB, top Soviet security agency, has requested political asylum in the United States.

Nossenko disappeared from Soviet circles at Geneva last week. Soviet officials, notifying the Swiss authorities, indicated he was a member of the Russian delegation at the 17-nation disarmament conference.

"We do not believe he has met with an accident," a Soviet source was quoted as saying. "It is beginning to look as though he may have defected."

The sabotage was the worst directed against the 577-mile railroad, which operates between Jacksonville and Florida City, south of Miami, since the nonoperating unions struck Jan. 23, 1963. Railroad officials said there have been 146 incidents.

About 1,200 union employees struck, idling about 800 others. They demanded the 10.28-cent-an-hour pay raise agreed to by nearly all class one railroads on a national level. The Florida East Coast line, which was not a party to the negotiations, said it couldn't afford the raise, and wanted to bargain separately.

There has been no passenger service since the strike, but freight service has been built up to four trains each way daily, using supervisory personnel.

Claims He Has Sixth Sense

Man Posing as FBI Agent Put Under Arrest in Manhattan Hotel

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter Hurkos, who says he has a sixth sense helpful to police in murder investigations, has been charged with impersonating an FBI agent.

He is accused of having told

Arrested in Hotel

The purported incident last Dec. 13 at Wauwatosa, Wis., led to Hurkos' arrest Sunday in a Manhattan hotel.

In Milwaukee, the FBI said Hurkos had showed the attendant a rifle with a telescopic sight and also told them he was en route to take part in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnap investigation.

Hurkos, 52, claims to have attained powers of extra-sensory perception—a sixth sense roughly defined as telepathy—when he fell on his head 21 years ago. Through last Wednesday, he worked with police for eight days in an attempt to solve the stranglings of 11 women in the Boston area since June 14, 1962.

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts said Hurkos, after examining evidence in the slayings, maintained that all 11 crimes were committed by one man. And, a spokesman for Brooke added Hurkos provided a description of the killer that came uncannily close to describing an itinerant shoe salesman questioned in the cases.

Hurkos told authorities the killer was about 37, and the salesman is exactly that age, Brooke said.

Brooke's spokesman emphasized that the salesman "was already under surveillance" at the time Hurkos supplied the description.

The spokesman added that Hurkos did not cause the salesman's arrest or confinement. He said the salesman "was committed to a mental hospital by his doctor, not by police or by Hur-

President Airs Creation Of Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer, Strokes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, declaring that he had before Congress for at least 10 years, announced today that he would create a commission on heart disease, cancer and strokes.

Spelling out the principal goals urged Congress today to vote on his proposal, Johnson recommended that the insurance program be financed in part by increasing the annual earnings subject to Social Security taxes from $4,800 to $5,300.

Thus all workers covered by Social Security and earning more than $4,800 would pay to reduce the hazards of these more serious diseases by developing new knowledge and better use of existing knowledge.

The first item in the lengthy presidential message was a hospital insurance for the aged—a

Johnson said insurance benefits should be available to everyone who reaches 65. If the Social Security program, he said, the cost of insurance should be paid for out of appropriations.

In addition to raising the Social Security tax base and providing for appropriations for the non-social security cases, Johnson asked Congress to increase the Social Security tax rate by one-quarter of one per cent for both workers and their employers.

This, he said, would insure that the medical insurance would be "soundly founded."

Johnson said benefits payments "should cover the cost of services customarily furnished in a hospital, but not the cost of the services of personal physicians."

He said the plan would "in no way hinder the patient's freedom to choose his doctor, hospital or nurse."

Mishicot Couple Is Found Dead

MISHICOT (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Yanda of rural Mishicot, parents of five children, were found dead in their automobile Sunday, apparent victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The couple, 37-year-old John and 33-year-old Audrey, had returned from a wedding and parked their car in the family garage. Authorities found their bodies after the children became alarmed because their parents had not returned.

Redecorate Teen-Ager's Sanctuary

Step aside, Mom and Dad, your daughter is growing up! From early adolescence, teenage girls begin to move away from their mother, father and family, and attempt to establish new, more independent individualities. They live between two worlds that of an adult woman. They're absorbed in integrating their new femininity. And, like Garbo, they want to be alone.

What better place to worry about current teenage problems, and also about future adult affairs, than in the privacy of their own room?

Colorful Sanctuary

Let your teenage daughter benefit from a cheerful, attractive room. Let her room be a sanctuary of gay draperies and youthful furniture, with a richly hued bedspread and bright scatter-rugs cailing the color-scheme tune. Let it reflect both the femininity and the practicality that will be blossoming in her as she leaves her childhood behind her.

A teenage girl's bedroom is a room of many uses, many faces. It's for living, dressing, partying and studying, as well as sleeping. Long gone are the days when a bedroom was, in fact, solely a bedroom.

Necessary Appointments

New York decorator Marjorie Borradale Hesel sees a girl's bedroom as a sort of quick change artist. "It should, of course, be comfortable, restful and bright as a basic room for sleep," she says. And, it should also have all the facilities of a fully-equipped dressing room—good mirrors and lights are, after all, the first steps towards good make-up, dressing and grooming.

"When friends come over to dance, play records, or just talk, the young hostess' bedroom should be easily adaptable for entertaining."

Mrs. Hesel, who has a son and daughter of her own, suggests placing the bed against the wall so that it can be used as a sofa, and piling it with scatter cushions to blend or contrast with the bedspread. "A cocktail-height table is ideal in a teenager's bedroom," she says. "It's exactly the right height for soda and cookies when the gang's all there on the floor. Floor pillows—progressively smaller so that they can be piled up in an inviting heap when not in use—are the ideal floor seats.

The sophisticated New Look in furniture for young people includes units for bunching, stacking and rounding corners. It is a contemporary design room should be easily adaptable for entertaining."

Old footstools, covered with gaily colored felt, are a good idea too.

Remove Rugs

Scatter-rugs or other floor coverings easy to remove are a must according to Mrs. Hesel. "They can be whisked away when the floor is needed for dancing," she explains.

A good-sized desk—perhaps doubling as her vanity table—and plenty of storage shelves for books, records, stuffed animals and anything and everything else hoarded in her lifetime, complete the picture.

Color Suggestions

These color hints are dedicated to teenagers. Colors can make small rooms look larger, narrow rooms look wider, low ceilings higher, high ceilings lower. There is no architectural asset that cannot be accented, no fault that cannot be covered if you know how to use color correctly.

You can make things seem larger than they are with light colors and smaller and heavier with dark colors. Bright colors attract the eye and can be used to draw attention away from unattractive objects.

Let your daughter reflect and flatter her personality in the way her room is decorated. And remember that colors can make or break a girl's bedroom. So can the furniture.

The most important part of a bedroom—the bed—doesn't show. But, because we all spend about a third of our lives in bed, refreshing ourselves for our active hours, it's important that our beds are of the highest possible quality. Buy your daughter a really good bed, then build from there.

These hints are only the beginnings of a completely individual teenage bedroom. It's the little personal touches that really count.

with clean, tailored lines and fine balance. It is appropriately scaled for the limited space of a teenage bedroom and for special study and hobby needs.

Your Problems

Slam on Back No License to Attack With Sharp Compass

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The grimmest thing happened at school yesterday and I am getting the worst of it through no fault of my own.

My girl friend and I were walking out of the cafeteria when we heard these two creep behind us. They were saying some very crude things. We kept on walking and paid no attention.

Suddenly one of the guys slammed me across the backside with a book. I was so shocked I swallowed my gum. When I heard these wild roars of laughter I turned around and jabbed one of the guys with the point of the compass I happened to have in my hand at the time. He screamed as if he had been stabbed. Two teachers came running out of study hall. Frankly I was surprised at how much blood could come from a little tiny pin prick.

Now it's all over school that I stabbed this kid and they are making me sound like a maniac. Nobody says a word about him hitting me across the rear first. All my school privileges have been taken away for one month. The principal called my mother and I am grounded at home, too. You might say I have been sentenced to solitary confinement for 30 days. Is this fair? — Persecuted

Dear Persecuted: What do you mean, "He screamed as if he had been stabbed?" He was stabbed — and you got what you deserve. Cupcake.

The boy should not have belted you with the book, but you had no license to attack him with the sharp end of a compass. It could have been a catastrophe. Sweat out your punishment and learn to control your temper.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am concerned about my behavior when I am invited to a party. I am never content to sit and enjoy myself, as a guest. I always feel much more comfortable when I work in the kitchen, empty ashtrays, freshen drinks and so on.

What bothers me is my motivation. What appears to be a desire to help is really a compulsion to keep busy. It makes me feel "needed" and therefore "wanted." Can you explain this to me? — Perpetual Motion

Dear Perpetual: You've just explained it to yourself but here is some elaboration: Your feelings of being unwanted and unneeded have trailed you from childhood into adulthood. You feel inferior so you attempt to "serve" in order to justify having been invited to the party.

Many accomplished and successful people have the same problem. In spite of overwhelming evidence to the contrary they still feel inadequate and unworthy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a married man with a problem. Some time ago while on an assignment at one of our company's midwest branch offices I developed a warm friendship — not a romance — with a young married woman I will call Portia.

During the holiday season I received a beautifully framed picture of Portia with a little note, "For your desk."

Several of my colleagues know Portia and her husband. They come through this city several times a year on business. I'm afraid Portia may be taking a very dim view of me. Such an act as kicking off one's shoes reflects on the girl gift on my desk when she drops who in turn is offending the bride, the parents and the display her photograph. May I guests. It affects the whole tone of the reception I admit that.

new shoes aren't always comfortable but we gals can discipline ourselves enough to grin and bear it while the show goes on or while we're "on parade."

SLIP-SHOD APPEARANCE

Dear Louise: I have attended fashionable and socially prominent weddings in the last few years when brides' attendants often kick off their shoes and greet the guests in their stocking feet. I don't get shocked any more but must admit I've never been amused. I wonder if these girls realize the universal disapproval of such a thing. Perhaps my comments and those you might add will help to curb this displeasing breach of good manners and dignity.

Louise Davis Answers: I too have noticed shoeless girls in receiving lines and like you, take a very dim view of it. Such an act as kicking off one's shoes reflects on the girl gift on my desk when she drops who in turn is offending the bride, the parents and the display her photograph. May I guests. It affects the whole tone of the reception I admit that.

new shoes aren't always comfortable but we gals can discipline ourselves enough to grin and bear it while the show goes on or while we're "on parade."

Hadassah to Mark Aliyah Anniversary

Appleton Chapter of Hadassah in 1934. Youth Aliyah has ministered to the needs of more than 112,000 children from 12 to 17 years of age, representing 72 countries. It educates and re-creates the young people so that they may become productive citizens of Israel. Within its 250 institutions, settlements, welfare movement was founded children's villages and day centers.

Everybody Will Love the Hostess who serves this "hearty" meatloaf. Coarsely crumbled pretzels add good taste. It is also a thrifty dish. Serve it hot or cold.

'Hearty' Meatloaf Perfect for Parties

Sweets to the sweet not withstanding, no get-together of friends is quite complete without some good solid food. Make a meatloaf festive this easy way. It's good both hot and cold.

Use a pink or red heart-shaped paper frill cut to edge any heart-shaped baking mold. Unmold on heart plate and garnish with radishes cut to a heart shape.

Well Seasoned

The meatloaf recipe produces a soft, moist texture. And, because of the pretzels' good taste, needs very little seasoning. Naturally, although party pretty, it is a thrifty dish. Serve it with a tomato or mushroom sauce and a green salad—then, spurge on a dessert. Everybody will love you!

Kennedy Memorial

Mrs. Siegfried Kramarsky, national Hadassah president, announced this week that plans are underway to erect a special memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy at the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center in Jerusalem. To be known as "The John F. Kennedy Memorial Building," the information center will be in Israel's Judean Hills and is expected to be completed by the end of this year. Envisioned as a meeting place where Hadassah physicians and medical scientists from all over the world will meet to discuss research findings, the building will include an auditorium and exhibit hall, public relations and tourist offices, dining facilities and will serve as the headquarters of Hadassah's volunteer hospital aides.

"It is eminently fitting," Mrs. Kramarsky said, "that this fighter for freedom through deeds not words this believer in goodness and mercy whose hope for a better world is our hope, shall be always remembered here."

Hostesses at Tuesday's meeting will be Mrs. William Chudacoff, Mrs. Ben Cherkasky, Mrs. Lester Chudacoff, Mrs. Harold Abramson and Mrs. Louis Blocher.

Designing Woman Small Groupings Give Room Balance

TAFFY'S TIPS
By Dolly Maria

MAIL CALL
Dear Taffy:

At what age do most girls get into bras? I'm over twelve, but I still don't have one. Please don't tell me to wait until my mother gets me one, because I don't know when she will. I don't ask her because I don't know what to say.

Sincerely,
NO NAME

Dear No Name:

There is no set age when girls wear their first bras. Many girls at 12, and even 13 and 14 still don't wear them, while girls as young as 10 or 11 often do. I don't usually say "follow the leader" but if all the other girls in your group do wear them and you feel completely left out, then it's time to tell your mother that your friends wear them and you'd like one, too. She'll surely understand sooner or later.

Keep happy, TAFFY

In terms of space, this area plays second fiddle to the major conversation grouping in the long living room, but it's usually occupied first. The table top spends much time flipped to full size because it's so spacious that way to spread objects and games on, and to dine on whether or not there are guests.

A sofa becomes part of seating for dining with grace and most comfortably when a room is as skillfully planned as Glenn Craft, A.I.D., planned this one. With the sofa, he gave the setting weight to balance the larger conversation grouping at the other end of the room, and avoided a clutter of chairs. His choice of design points out that to be used successfully this way, a sofa is best short, slender and curving rather than lengthy, bulky and severe.

Many Countries

The setting is rich with treasures from many countries and many times. A marble-topped Dutch antique commode holds cards, games and small serving pieces. The bright yellow Venetian glass-based lamp sits beside a reproduction of a famous piece of Egyptian sculpture, on the marble top of a metal table straight from a Paris sidewalk cafe. Classic modern chairs in black oxide, brought from Denmark, flank the black flip-top table in contemporary American styling. According to family recollection, the gilded walnut-framed mirror is American, although when this generation inherited it, it was appraised as English. The sofa in brown-tinged gray and off-white striped linen is a reproduction of an English antique.

West opened his singleton on trump, hoping to reduce dummy's ruffing power. South drew three rounds of trumps and led a heart to dummy's king.

West played the nine of hearts to signal his doubleton, and East shrewdly refused to win the first heart trick. Now South was in trouble, for he could not bring in the hearts.

Whenever South led hearts again, East would win and get out safely with a spade or a club. Declarer could get to dummy just once, to ruff out East's top heart, but then he could never get back to dummy to use the hearts.

Unable to use the hearts or the clubs, South managed to win only eight tricks. As he chalked up 500 points for his opponents, South complimented East for refusing the first heart trick.

Make Contract
South would make the contract if East took the first heart. South would later lead his other heart to dummy's queen, ruff a heart, and get back by ruffing a club to take the rest of the hearts.

However, South can make the contract by proper play despite East's correct defense. South

SEAMS TO ME

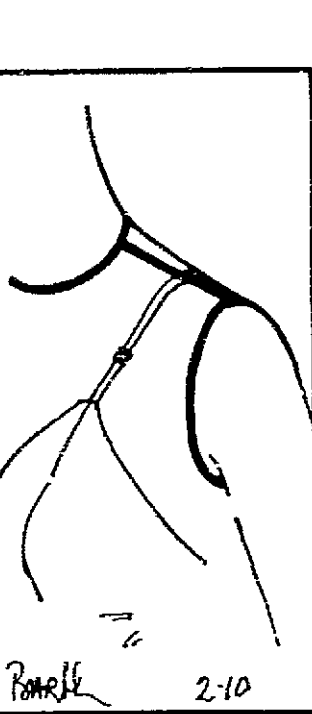

By Patricia Scott

In making a dress, the bodice is fitted first; it is kept in place by tugging a string around the waistline. Start your fitting with the shoulders; then the neck line. Only after both are fitted properly do you attempt to fit the bust, back and armholes.

Pat Scott The length of the shoulder and where it falls depends on the type of dress, the look you want to achieve, and your own figure. Generally, the seam should fall along the top of the shoulder so that it is more or less unnoticeable from the front or back when you are wearing the dress. But this also varies. If you are round-shouldered, it may be better to place the shoulder seam a little to the back of the normal line and to cut the neck higher in the back. This will make you look straight instead of stooped. On the other hand, some women who stand very straight and erect should follow the normal seam line.

A properly fitted neckline should curve gently and sit close to the neck at the back and sides. It should feel nicely snug, but not tight. To see your true neck line curve in a mirror, place a cord around your neck. You'll find that the curve just

If you have had trouble fitting necklines and you usually must alter them, allow 3/4 inch or more seam when you shape them. Generally when you alter a neckline, the shoulder seams have to be adjusted too.

Things to look for when fitting shoulders:

Be sure that the crosswise grain of the fabric is straight above the bust and at the bust. The lengthwise grain of the waist front should be parallel to the center front and center back. Sometimes this grain may be off and in order to adjust it you may have to open up the seam and change the placing and the amount of fullness at the shoulder. Some of the extra fullness can be taken up in darts. Or, if you must, let out or take up the shoulder seams until they are placed in the correct position. If you do this, you may have to let out one side of the seam more than the other. Or, the width of the seam at one end may have to be made wider or narrower than the normal amount.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, How to Alter Your Dress Patterns, which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to Patricia Scott in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Parents' World

Dr. Jones Discusses Right Of Teen-Agers to Smoke

BY DR. EYE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: In the past two weeks, the principal of the high school my 16-year-old attends has suspended three students for smoking in the boys' washroom.

Several parents agree with me that this is poor psychology and that it's wiser to let the children smoke if they want. By prohibiting smoking and by punishing smokers, we think he's simply making smoking more attractive.

Also we think this is an unconstitutional infringement on personal liberty. What's your view?

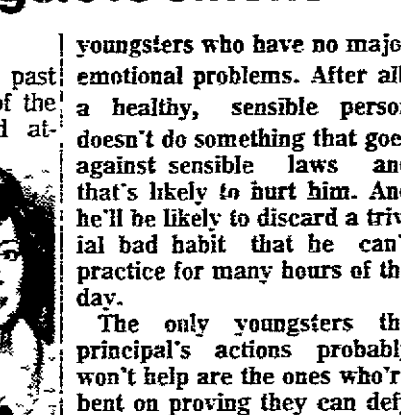

MRS. A. N.

I'll leave it to the U. S. Supreme Court to decide about the legal question you raise. But I suspect the principal is only enforcing fire laws prohibiting smoking in public buildings.

Contrary to your belief, prohibition and punishment don't make smoking more attractive to teen-agers. In groups of teen-agers whose parents object to smoking, just about the same percentage smoke as in groups whose parents don't prohibit it. Apparently, the fact that the parents themselves smoke does have an effect, though. It increases the likelihood that the teen-agers also smoke.

We need more information about why teen-agers smoke before we can make any progress in curbing this habit. Perhaps the rise in the percentage of teen-age smokers, compared to teen-agers one or two generations ago, is simply due to the relative low cost of a package of cigarettes. Your granddad had to work for about two hours to be able to pay for a package of cigarettes. Your son can buy an entire carton for the same amount of time and effort.

In any case, why object to the principal's actions? They'll probably prevent or cut down smoking for the majority of

Don't Gain Too Much Weight in Pregnancy

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. than the two of you need — one Dear Dr. Molner: I am two adult and one very tiny embryo months pregnant. I have already gained 15 pounds. Ordinarily I've known of young women

I do not have any tendency to gain excess weight. My doctor says: "Fine. You're eating for two." But I don't agree: it's too much. With seven months to go, can you imagine what I'll look like? There is nothing physically wrong with me, only a tremendous appetite. I am sure I can control this, but will the baby be harmed if I stay on a low calorie diet?

N.F.G. The essential needs of the pregnancy are protein, vitamins, calcium and iron. Lean meat and mal; your 15 pounds in two eggs take care of the first, the months is, as you think, too protein. A quart of milk a day amply provides calcium plus Odd quirks can accompany some protein and a supply of pregnancy. Occasionally over-fat — if weight is a problem, weight is the result of too much skim milk can be substituted, fluid accumulating in the uterus. It is quite common to give pregnant women vitamins and iron but to do as you do and face won't drink milk) to stay on the the plain facts. Sometimes the safe side. Look after these essentials in your diet and you can keep your weight under control without the least risk to the baby.

You are "eating for two," but when you start gaining too much. The baby does not need any weight, you are eating more important sustenance from such fattening items as candy and sugar, starches, gravies, and fried foods.

By all means start curbing the appetite. You'll be better off. So will the baby. The birth will be easier and safer. And you won't have the problem of reducing afterward when your energies can be more profitably spent enjoying the new child.

Smoking Troubles Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 22, has two babies and she smokes cigarettes incessantly. I am worried sick over her. Is there anything I can do to stop her from smoking, as I am so scared of lung cancer. She says she just can't quit. Please don't print my name as my daughter would be mad at me.

I gave you some different initials. No, you can't force people to stop smoking, short of locking them up. I'm sure she could quit if she really wanted to. Anybody can. But she doesn't want to, enough.

For your own peace of mind, though, why not let her worry? Lung cancer doesn't ordinarily appear until people have been smoking for quite a number of years.

NOTE TO MRS. J.D.H.: No, year, the chewing Japan about 100,000 tons each with Castro in turn is expected to buy things from Japan. This country was angered perhaps even more when France recognized Red China which administration in this country would like to isolate Castro. So likely to come to terms with the United Nations.

U. S. Effort to Isolate Cuba Being Outflanked

BY JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP) — This country's effort to isolate Fidel Castro is beginning to look sick if only because business is business. It's not a one-way street, either.

A British newspaper, the Daily Mail, complained bitterly over the weekend because a leading British physiologist, unable to get enough research funds for his work in his home, is leaving for the United States.

This is a frank acknowledgment of business rivalry at a time when the United States is complaining bitterly because British and French firms are selling Castro millions of dollars' worth of buses, trucks and tractors.

They are not the only friends or allies who are dealing, or are expected to deal, with Cuba. Spain is expected to buy 200,000 tons of Cuban sugar this year, the Netherlands about 100,000 tons each.

So there doesn't seem much it can do except to try to persuade its allies and friends not just the practical thing to do, to overdo this business of business with the Cuban.

...Time to buy an Electric Clothes Dryer

Is your basement a dark, dank jungle of dripping clothes on wash-day? Then it's high time you invested in an electric clothes dryer.

An electric clothes dryer does away with basement clothesline stringing and clothes hanging. Dries clothes cleaner, too! In fact, you never saw whiter clothes than those dried electrically because pure electric heat just can't make dirt. It's the ideal heat for clothes drying.

Today, come out of the jungle! See your appliance dealer about an electric clothes dryer.

An average family can dry clothes electrically for a whole month for the cost of 4 or 5 packs of cigarettes.

PTA Petitions Seek Spencer Road Controls

Reduced Speed Limit, Flashing Light for Pupil Safety Asked

Petitions asking that the speed limit on Spencer Road from Appleton city limits to U.S. 41 be lowered will be presented to the Outagamie County Board Tuesday, the chairman of the Badger School PTA said today.

Harold Swenson, head of the PTA, said the organization also seeks a flashing red light at the corner of Blue Mound and Spencer roads to warn motorists of the presence of children.

Swenson said the petitions will be presented to the board by Arthur Lecker, Grand Chute town chairman and a member of the board.

He said the PTA also hopes to get the support of Royce Kurtz, superintendent of Appleton schools, and from the Appleton Board of Education.

'Spencer Road Narrow'

"Spencer Road is narrow, and children must walk on the pavement in many places where there is no shoulder or very little shoulder," Swenson said.

The speed limit on Spencer in the vicinity of the school is 45 miles per hour.

The PTA chairman said traffic volume on the street has increased since the speed limit was set.

The proposed warning light would be controlled from the school so it would operate only when needed, Swenson said.

The petitions were circulated during the weekend by members of the PTA safety committee headed by Mrs. James Davis.

Wiring Didn't Cause Blaze

Appleton Officials Continue Probe of Van Susteren Fire

Appleton fire department authorities today ruled out defective wiring as the cause of a fire Saturday night at the home of Joseph Van Susteren, 219 S. Durkee St.

The fire was discovered by two unidentified Lawrence College students who saw smoke pouring from the roof of the three-story home. Estimates today are that the fire caused as much as $10,000 damage.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehn said they are investigating to learn if the fire was started by stray sparks which may have landed on the home's wooden shingle roof and burned through, dropping into the storage area under the roof.

State Fire Inspector Earl Schwabe is expected to examine the fire scene Tuesday.

The fire was confined to the bedroom area and storage room on the third floor, but smoke and water damage was extensive throughout the home.

200 View Plans for New Appleton Y, Meet Secretary

First Public Presentation of Designs of Proposed Buildings

About 200 Fox Cities residents met James Warrick, new general secretary of the Appleton Building committee members YMCA, and viewed final plans for the proposed new YMCA building at a reception in the Worcester Art Center Sunday.

Warrick replaced Al Johnson as Y secretary last fall. He came to Appleton from Elkhart, Ind., where he was secretary of the YMCA. Johnson moved to Minneapolis, Minn., where he is public relations director of the St. Paul-Minneapolis Council of Churches.

Final drawings for the proposed building were presented to the public for the first time.

The drawings show an initial phase of the building and an expanded plan, with additions to be built when funds are available.

During the first slide presentation, Warrick said present plans call for bidding in May, start of construction in mid-summer and completion of the building by the end of January, 1966.

He said expansion would come when program needs require it and funds are available. A major decision by the building committee, he said, was to live within the funds raised and to make additions later. The building fund drive last year went over its goal of $1.5 million, but recommendations of the building committee will cost an estimated $2 million. The committee decided to go ahead with an initial phase costing an estimated $1.5 million.

Further Drives No further official solicitations are planned, he said. A folder on the plans distributed at the reception said "it is hoped contributors will re-evaluate their previous pledges and determine the 'total' facilities be built initially."

For the initial phase, the quantity of units such as meeting rooms and handball courts has been reduced and priorities have prevented inclusion of a rifle and archery range, young adult area, complete space for the pre-school nursery, chapel room, complete dining facilities, squash court and some office space.

The initial phase will include, on the main floor, lobby, offices, youth area and the den, a large gymnasium with a divider and rollaway bleachers, spectator seating, and a large kitchen.

Two Suffer Gunshot Wounds in Weekend Hunting Accidents

Two persons were treated for gunshot wounds received in hunting accidents over the weekend.

Christ Verkuyl, 38, 818 S. Christine St., was shot in the index finger of his left hand when a shotgun he was carrying discharged. He has with a hunting party near Mountain when the accident occurred Sunday.

Marvin Brockman, 12, route 3, Appleton, was wounded in the leg by a shotgun pellet while hunting with his brothers on a rural Appleton farm Saturday.

Outagamie County Sheriff Dever said the boys were on a fox hunt from the brush near a criminal offense. We regret where Marvin was standing, that the last line was inadvertently dropped from the paragraph.

Stassen Makes No Primary Decision

Former Minnesota Governor Gets No Encouragement From Peterson

Despite a lack of encouragement from Taibot Peterson, Appleton state chairman of the Republican Party, Harold Stassen said Sunday night he hasn't decided against entering Wisconsin's April 7 primary for the cross over and vote for Republican presidential nomination.

The 56-year-old former Minnesota governor said in Philadelphia, where he now practices law, that he hadn't "decided and that Democrats can vote one way or the other" about the Wisconsin contest.

Peterson said today that he would "have to decide in a few days" because the closing to do here in Wisconsin.

"I told him we had the support of the eight major Republican candidates" for the John Byrnes favorite son slate of delegates.

Avoid Primary

In order to avoid a costly, possible party-splitting presidential primary, the state GOP organization set up the Byrnes favorite son slate.

So far, Peterson has written agreements to stay out of the primary from New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, Michigan Gov. George Romney, Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, Kentucky Sen. Thurston Morton, Ambassador to South Viet Nam

The 43rd annual Heiss oratorical contest will be held Feb. 24 during a homeroom assembly in Appleton High School.

This contest is held in honor of William Heiss, the first Appleton High School alumnus to be killed in World War I.

Participants in the contest will receive gold forensic keys for their efforts, and the winner's name will be inscribed on a plaque. He will compete in the district American Legion oratorical contest later this month.

Competing in the contest will be five students. Walter Brown, a sophomore, will speak on "Education." Gail Bergner will speak on "Morality in Today's Society." John Forbes will speak on "Rights As They Are Set Forth in the Constitution."

Kathy Downs has chosen "Prejudice and How It Can Be Alleviated" as her topic. These three students are juniors. Senior Steve Hubin will speak on "The Lost Identity."

Each student must speak for 7 to 10 minutes, presenting a problem and then convincing the audience their solution to it is the best one. E. John Goodrich is their adviser.

Warrants Expected Against Party Host

Combined Locks Home Raided While Juvenile Teen-Agers Drink Beer

Warrants charging a 25-year-old Combined Locks father of two with contributing to the delinquency of minors are expected to be issued this afternoon by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer.

The man's home was raided Saturday night by eight Outagamie County sheriff deputies who, acting on a tip, surprised over 25 juveniles at a beer party in the home's basement.

Sheriff L.L. Joseph Vandenoever who headed the raid, said the man had asked that the boys attending the party provide $1 for beer and the girls were to provide 50 cents to cover the cost of the beer. The money was found in a "kitty" jar in the basement recreation room where most of the juveniles had gathered.

Break Glass Vandenoever had to force his way into the home by breaking a pane of glass in the back door with his revolver. Other deputies entered the home through the front door. A search warrant was obtained in County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon and was read to the man.

Police and deputies had to make six trips to the Outagamie County courthouse with the juveniles where parents were called. The youths have been turned over to their parents. One youth, 20, is being held in the county

Outagamie County Board to Vote On Construction Bids Tuesday; Fulcer Called by Alvin Staffeld

A member of the Winnebago died in January; a resolution County airport committee today seeking the resignation of the personally asked Outagamie agriculture committee, a resolution County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer to encourage delay of ment of Henry Van Straten, any action Outagamie County county superintendent of schools, may take toward the approval on the community guidance Tuesday of airport construction center board of directors, and contracts in Outagamie County, a transfer of 14 fund requests Fulcer said he was called by from the contingency fund to Winnebago County airport committee and asked if actions slated for Tuesday could be "soft discussion on a resolution asking supervisors received copies of certain resolutions in advance they can be studied.

Staffeld is reported also to have asked Fulcer to call for a poll of Outagamie County supervisors to determine if they would be willing to talk regional airport concepts with Winnebago County.

Staffeld, reached at his home today, said he talked to Fulcer today to ask if there was any airport business to be conducted during the Tuesday session. He denied he asked any questions about possible delays or had asked any expressions from Outagamie County on the Winnebago-Outagamie regional airport talks.

"Wouldn't Ask" Staffeld said he "wouldn't ask anything like that."

Contracts for the construction of the county's new airport hanger will be submitted for approval Tuesday by the Outagamie County airport committee. Fulcer said after the contracts are let, Outagamie County is well underway to construction of its proposed jet-age airport.

Staffeld has attempted to encourage his Winnebago County board colleagues to confer with Outagamie County on a regional airport somewhere north of Neenah. A resolution asking the two counties meet for talks submitted by Staffeld without the backing of his own committee was tabled at last month's Winnebago County board meeting.

On Record Fulcer said he told Staffeld there was nothing he could or would do about the airport contracts at Tuesday's meeting. He said regarding the poll, Outagamie County is on record about regional airport talks.

Fulcer was referring to a letter sent to Winnebago County board members, airport committee members and Jack D. Steinhilber, county corporation counsel, stating Outagamie County would consider regional airport talks with Winnebago County if Winnebago County would officially go on record as desiring such talks.

Fulcer said the regional concept site could still be discussed even after the Town of Greenville site is under construction, but it may be the regional site itself would be the same as the Outagamie County airport site.

Other Matters Other discussions slated by the county board at Tuesday's meeting will involve replacing a member on the Wolf River Regional planning commission to replace Harold Schmeichel who

Fox-Wolf Rivers Study May Not Include Neenah Slough

Final Decision to be Made By Enginer Corps Group

NEENAH — A Federal Department of the Interior official indicated today that the Neenah Slough is not included in the Fox-Wolf River Study to be conducted by the U.S. Government Corps of Engineers.

Robert Uppgren, assistant supervisor of river basin study, of the fish and wild life section in the Interior Department, said in Minneapolis today that as far as he knows the Wolf River is the primary concern in the study and not the Fox River and the slough.

However, he added that the final decision would have to be made by the Chicago district office of the Corps.

Federal Grant

Reportedly the corps has been given $75,000 in federal funds to conduct a survey in the Fox-Wolf River area.

Uppgren said a preliminary recommendation to the corps by his department is that off stream reservoirs be developed from the Wolf River to assist the river during time of high and low water level.

He explained that the reservoirs would be constructed with dikes which would take in river water during high water levels and let out water when the Wolf River was low.

"The reservoir would maintain a certain low level point so that fish and wild life could abide in the area," he said.

"The reservoirs would provide the area with flood control and low level control."

Report

He said that the corps study would devise a project-report for the area and this report would be considered by his fish and wild life department.

Uppgren's department then would take the report, make recommendations and prepare a cost-benefit ratio for the corps.

The report then goes to Washington for final approbation and allocation of funds.

The federal official explained that the corps has been doing preliminary surveying in the Fox-Wolf River area and will eventually be making a final decision on the area to be included in the study.

Off-Stream Reservoir

He indicated that should the study include the Fox River area, the slough might suffice as a potential off stream reservoir, if the area needed it.

However, he affirmed that as far as he knew this area was not included in the study.

As yet the corps has not given any specific recommendations for the area, Uppgren said.

MacMillan Is Retiring From Political Life

LONDON (AP)—Harold Macmillan, who served his country in war and peace, announced today on his 70th birthday he is saying farewell to politics.

"After 40 years in the House of Commons," the former prime minister said in a letter, "I really cannot undertake the full duties of a conscientious member."

His letter was addressed to conservative party officials at his constituency of Bromley.

Since stepping down from a seven-year term as prime minister after a prostrate operation four months ago, Macmillan has seldom been seen in Parliament.

Macmillan's career spanned the perilous days of World War II and the cold war. He became prime minister in 1956.

Macmillan probably will devote himself mainly to his family book publishing business.

As a former prime minister he can go to the House of Lords if he wishes.

Five Injured In Winnebago County Mishaps

Berlin Woman Hurt Seriously in One Of Three Accidents

OSHKOSH — Four persons were injured in one accident and another received possible serious injuries in a second of three Sunday afternoon accidents in Winnebago County.

Cars driven by Norman H. Pietz, 53, 824 Haase St., Neenah, and Delton O. Kriegel, 33, 153 Harrison St., Oshkosh, received extensive damage in an accident at the intersection of U.S. 41 and County Trunk J in the Town of Oshkosh at 4:49 p. m. Sunday.

Pietz received injuries to his right wrist and left forehead and his wife received a back injury. Kriegel was cut on the left hand and complained of a sore left hip and Charles Farry Jr., route 4, Oshkosh, a passenger in the Kriegel car, complained of a sore neck and sore right hip.

Pietz was taken to Mercy hospital in a squad car and the other three were taken to the hospital in a Moore ambulance. The Pietz car received $800 damage and the other car was listed as a total loss. Pietz was headed south on U.S. 41 and the Theda Clark Memorial Hospital today with a head injury.

Four other Neenah youths, Tru-la Jensen, route 1, Peter Brockman, 18, 1110 S. Park Drive, Duane Dunsirn, 14, 645 Cleveland St., and James Larson, 13, 125 Olive St., were in satisfactory condition with various cuts, abrasions and contusions.

Reynolds Thinks He Will Assume Favorite Son Role

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds said today it is "unlikely" President Johnson will enter Wisconsin's preferential primary April 7 and that odds favor the governor himself heading the Democratic ballot as a favorite son slate of delegates will have to be offered as a consequence.

The governor spent much of the weekend with Postmaster General John Gronouski who made appearances in both Madison and Milwaukee. But Reynolds said Gronouski did not relay any definite word on the President's intentions regarding the state primary.

Reynolds said a final determination on a favorite son candidate had not been made but that he understood Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson are "not interested" in assuming the role. Proxmire is up-

Snow Guards Removed From Lake Bridge

Cables to Replace Metal Bands on Sides Of U. S. 41 Causeway

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County highway crews now are replacing a 12-inch metal belt along the sides of the U.S. 41 causeway over Lake Butte des Moris with three strands of metal cable. Leon Morrissey, county highway commissioner, said today.

As an experiment last summer, the county crews replaced the metal belt from the end of each small bridge to the shore with metal cable. Snow in this area, then blew across the bridge or stayed low along the causeway. Snow hitting the metal belt section was deflected up and swirling over the highway, resulting in poor visibility.

A multi-car accident on the causeway two weeks ago demonstrated the value of the metal cables over the metal belt for improving visibility on the causeway, Morrissey said. The state had some cable on hand which had been used in other counties and replaced there with the metal belts for safe-

He demonstrated the value of the metal cables over the metal belt for improving visibility on the causeway, Morrissey said. The state had some cable on hand which had been used in other counties and replaced there with the metal belts for safe-

The section of the causeway from the main span to the north end is completed and the crews now are working on the section between the main span and the south span of the causeway. Several weeks ago county highway crews erected large warning signs at both ends of the causeway to call attention to blowing snow and poor visibility conditions.

Bible Quiz Part Of Youth for Christ Program

Fox Cities Teams To Compete With Other State Groups

A Bible quiz between teams from the Fox Cities, Milwaukee and Racine will highlight the Fox Cities Youth for Christ program from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Saturday in the Masonic Temple.

The program, called a "fun-spiration," also will feature a program by the Hal Webb and Theron Babcock musical team from Pennsylvania, games, contests and refreshments. It is open to junior and senior high school students.

The Fox Cities Bible quiz team has one win over Sheboygan and one loss to Wausau this year. Team members are Dennis Meredith, Keith Gibson, Janice Ohman, Neva Lake and Elaine Glassnap from Appleton High School and Carolyn Benson, Mary Weilt and Roswyn Hirschy from Neenah High School. Joseph Duncan, Hortonville, is the quiz coach.

Bible quiz teams are gaining in popularity, according to John Gillespie, Fox Cities Youth for Christ director. The team competes about twice a month with teams from other cities. The Northern States Area playoff is scheduled for May in Minneapolis, Minn., with 25 teams from Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota and North Dakota competing. The top two teams will go to Winona Lake, Ind., for the international playoffs July 3 through 12.

The quiz questions are on four books of the Bible — the first nine chapters of Genesis, Jonah, Philimon and 1 Corinthians. Questions are on factual content, and contestants are not asked to give interpretations.

The team members jump up from their chairs to answer questions. An electric board lights up to show who jumped up first.

The Fox Cities junior high Bible quiz team of about 15 members has not entered competition yet. The team went to the international playoffs last year. The junior high team has questions only on the First Book of Corinthians.

Future senior high matches will be at Madison Feb. 22, and at Sheboygan March 14.

Youth Center Names Ping Pong Winner

KAUKAUNA — Twenty-two boys entered the Youth Center sponsored ping pong tournament with Dave Tessen named the winner as he downed Tom Collins in three straight games in the finals.

A series of elimination matches were held, all based on the best of a 5-game set. No matches are scheduled this Wednesday, but the following week action will resume with boys' doubles, girls' singles and mixed doubles.

Library Fines on Overdue Books Dropped for Week

KAUKAUNA—In an effort to get back some of the volumes long overdue at the public library, Richard Rademacher, new head librarian, has set this week aside for patrons to return books without penalty.

Books overdue for only a few days or for a long period of time all will be accepted with no fines assessed. Patrons may drop the volumes in the book return box outside the library or turn them in at the desk.

Rademacher asked cooperation of library patrons in checking book shelves and other places at home to ascertain whether they may have inadvertently kept a book from the public library.

date for filing a slate of convention delegates is March 6. "I have gotten my New Hampshire delegation squared away and now I will think about Wisconsin," he said.

He added that he would be talking to Peterson again this week and to Rep. Melvin Laird, Marshfield, who conceived the favorite son delegation plan.

Stassen said he had been checking with "many friends in Wisconsin on the situation." Byrnes has agreed to head the national convention delegate slate so long as it was uncommitted and challenged. He calls Stassen's possible entry "a borderline case."

Cuba Stand
Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., who is among those mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate, said at Waukesha Saturday that President Johnson should have taken a stronger stand after Cuba cut off the fresh water supply at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

If necessary, troops should be ordered to surround the source of the Cuban water to show the world, especially this nation's allies in the Western Hemisphere, that the United States is not going to allow its right to be taken away, Morton said at a news conference.

At a later fund raising dinner, he said Democrats are "trying for even greater centralized power in Washington."

Gov. Jack Olson told the 750 dinner guests that "Wisconsin cannot afford the luxury of John Reynolds being governor again." Olson said "the people are tired of taxes and more taxes."

St. Norbert College ROTC Sergeant Re-Enlists at Campus

DE PERE — Army M/Sgt. Louis C. Hagemeyer of the St. Norbert College ROTC department took the oath of re-enlistment to start what will be his third tour in the school's military science department.

He was first assigned to the De Pere campus in 1953, and served for five years. After a tour in Alaska, the Army granted him his request for reassignment to St. Norbert. His current tour dates to 1961, marking some eight years he has been at the college.

Sgt. Hagemeyer has stated that he would like to retire in this area. He has over 20 years' military service, including World War II combat in Europe. He is a native of Fort Thomas, Ky.

Treat Green Bay Nuns For Food Poisoning

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Four nuns from St. Joseph Elementary School were hospitalized and several others received medical treatment for food poisoning Sunday afternoon.

The nuns became ill about 4:30 p.m. several hours after the noon meal at the school. They were taken to St. Vincent Hospital where their condition was described as good.

Listed as patients at the hospital this morning were: Sister Marolus, school principal; Sister Aquinas, a diocesan supervisor; Sister Magdela, a reading instructor; and Sister Mary Rosine, second grade teacher.

Steak, Eclairs
Sister Marolus said all 22 nuns at the school ate the noon meal, which consisted of steak, potatoes, vegetables and chocolate eclairs.

She said the nuns began complaining of feeling ill about 4:30 p.m. A physician was called, and he ordered the nuns taken to the hospital.

"Some of them were too sick to even lift their heads," Sister

Marolus said. She said she thought "four or five" other nuns were treated, in addition to the four admitted to the hospital for food poisoning.

Cause Unknown
The attending physician was in surgery this morning and could not be reached. Sister Marolus said the nuns had no idea of the cause of the food poisoning, but added several food samples had been sent in for analysis.

Classes at the school were held as scheduled today, according to the Rev. Joseph Diny, pastor at St. Joseph. Substitute teachers were called to conduct some of the classes. Father Diny said.

Sister Marolus said none of the nuns was in danger although "no one is feeling very well today."

In addition to the nuns admitted to the hospital, several others were confined to their beds at the school.

OSHKOSH — Robert C. Webster, 42, 432 Sherry St., Neenah, was fined $150 and costs for driving a car while under the influence of intoxicants and $15 for not having a driver's license.

County Judge James Sitter, who received Webster's guilty pleas on both charges, set alternatives of 45 and 5 days respectively in jail if the fine was not paid. They had not been paid by noon.

Webster was arrested early today by Neenah police who noticed him driving erratically on Sherry Street. Webster declined a drunkometer test. Police said his license had been taken away from him four years ago and he had not received any license since.

Beer dispensed at the party was from a quarter barrel mounted in the refrigerator. Two youths, 16 and 17 years of age, served as bartenders. A "pickup" orchestra of party participants was playing in the recreation room when raiders entered the home.

The youths were from Appleton, Kaukauna, Combined Locks and Little Chute. Vandenoever said word of the party was spread through "local hangouts" and that there were no invitations.

Partygoers would find the home, knock on the door and asked admittance. Vandenoever said. The home had been the site of several previous beer parties.

There was no evidence that the youths were drinking liquor, but 12 bottles of liquor were found in the recreation room bar.

Taking part in the raid beside Vandenoever were Ernest Danielson, Combined Locks police chief, Edward Metko, county traffic patrol, Donald Schmeck and Chris DeLeuw, Robert Nechodem, Thomas Jansen and George LeNoble, sheriff's deputies.

Lunch and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Kuehn Forfeits Bond for Driving While Intoxicated

MADISON (AP) — Philip G. Kuehn, 44, unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1960 and 1962, forfeited bond of $153 in Madison Traffic Court today on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Kuehn, a resident of Whitefish Bay, did not appear in court.

A Madison police officer arrested Kuehn early Sunday after he ignored a stop light on East Washington Ave. Kuehn was booked in the Dane County jail and released after posting bond.

"I did go through a stop sign but I was not intoxicated," Kuehn told newsmen.

club locker and nap area, a garage and storage space for canoes and camping equipment.

The addition to the west would include, on the lower level, a rifle and archery range and a young adult program area, and on the main floor, a dining and assembly area, chapel and meeting rooms.

The second story addition would have a pre-school nursery, additional offices and meeting rooms, a craft and activity room and a large multi-purpose room.

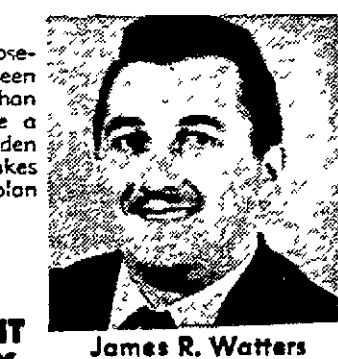

The food service program will use part of the multi-purpose room for dining in the initial phase. The proposed expansion would add a large cafeteria to the other side of the commercial kitchen.

The pre-school nursery in the initial phase will become a private dining room in the final phase, when the nursery will have a room on the second floor. In the initial phase the nursery will open onto a courtyard for outdoor play. In the final phase, the second floor nursery area will open onto a roof deck.

Russia Wins 25 Medals to Pace Turbulent Olympics

Final Event Captured by Toralf Engan

BY TED SMITS

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—The turbulent ninth Winter Olympics has sighed to a close, nursing bruises, pondering lessons and wondering whatever happened to the snow.

Russia scooped medal honors with 11 golds, eight silvers and six bronzes. The United States placed eighth in medal standings.

The final Olympic event—the spectacular 90 meters ski jump—was watched in bright sunshine Sunday by a crowd of 70,000, the largest of the games. The gold medal went to Norway's airborne Toralf Engan with Veikko Kankkonen of Finland second and another Norwegian, Torgeir Brandtzaeg, third.

America finished with one gold medal won by Terry McDermott, a barber from Essexville, Mich., two silvers and three bronzes.

Most Impressive Perhaps the most impressive U.S. finish was in the men's slalom on Saturday. Billy Kidd of Slove, Vt., won the silver medal and Jim Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., the bronze. Those were the first American medals in men's skiing in Winter Olympic history.

Even before the games started, there were shocks and alarms. First the weather stayed fair and snowless, and the ski runs had to be hand-packed with snow brought in from neighboring valleys. There never was any snowfall for the games.

Then there were two deaths in training with a British tobogganist and an Australian skier the victims. The games eventually settled down to bruising and bloody clashes between the swarming Austrian police and most everybody that fell out with them.

Cameramen and journalists ended up in jail. Three American team members—Bill Marolt, 20, Aspen, Colo.; George Farmer, 25, Seattle, Wash., and Mike Hessel, 21, Eugene, Ore.—also got arrested. They stood up in court, wearing their bruises like badges. The police complained the Americans made all the trouble.

As the time came for extinguishing the Olympic flame in Sunday night's closing ceremony, calm returned to this mountain-rimmed Olympic site. Russia took the ice hockey title after being pressed to the end by the Canadians, once the champions of them all.

The Alpine skiing events went to the Alpinists with Austria's Egon Zimmermann capturing the men's downhill and his countrywoman Christl Haas taking the women's event.

Wins Over Other Title Austria won one other Alpine title, and France took the other three through Francois Bonlieu (men's giant slalom), Marielle Goitschel (women's giant slalom) and Christine Goitschel (women's slalom).

The Scandinavian countries swept all of the Nordic men's events as expected with Russia's Claudia Boyarskikh picking up three gold medals in the women's division—one of them for a share in the cross country.

Russia's Lidia Skoblikova made history by becoming the first athlete to win four gold medals at a Winter Olympics. She scooped the pool in the women's speed skating, invitational.

Green Bay Wins, 8-5

Bobcats Break Losing Streak, Tip Rochester

BY GAIL ANDERSON

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Green Bay's Bobcats finally snapped out of their worst losing streak in history — a five game slump — with an 8-5 triumph over the Rochester Mustangs before a slim turnout of 1,053 fans Sunday afternoon, but beyond that the outlook isn't particularly good.

In the first place, the Bobcats have lost the services of defenseman Gordy Yewman for the season as the result of a broken left forearm suffered in a collision with the boards in the second period of Sunday's game.

And their chances of repeating the U.S. Hockey League championship they won last year are slim indeed after Waterloo's front — running Black Hawks swept both of their weekend games, beating Green Bay, 5-4 Saturday night and South St. Paul, 4-1 Sunday.

Waterloo, now 17-7 for the Guided by the Hands of the gold medal winners, the Olympic flag is lowered and carried from the stadium at Innsbruck, Austria to signal the end of the 1964 Winter Olympics, the ninth of its kind. Medals in Men's Skiing Salvaged Olympics for U. S.

May Take Innsbruck 20 Years To Live Down Usher's Behavior

BY JIM BECKER

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—This was the Winter Olympics that was salvaged for the United States by a second place finish.

When the Los Angeles Dodgers finished second in 1962, they took their dressing room door for an hour, and brooded all winter.

But this time the second place, plus a third place, came in men's skiing.

For Americans to do that is something like asking the Austrians to organize a football team, send away to Pete Rozell for a book of rules and enter a team in the NFL. And then lose to the Green Bay Packers, 7-6.

The skiing medals gave the United States a total of six for the games, or twice the number of U.S. athletes who were arrested.

There were times during the games when the police, and especially the ushers at the big ice stadium, seemed to be out to give the wartime S.S. a good name.

They shoved and mauled innocent bystanders ranking all the way from newsmen to the Aga Khan.

"He may be a prince to some people, but to me he didn't have a pass," said one snarling usher, after he barred the door to the Aga Khan, who had a date inside with the Shah of Iran.

It may well take Innsbruck 20 years to live down the way the boys on the force behaved.

There were goodly crowds throughout the games, although that might not mean too much. Innsbruck is a venerable old place, with about 100,000 people, but there isn't much to do.

The whole town will turn out to watch a busted water main.

The Russians were the big winners, for the third time in a row. They got 11 gold medals, but the girls won seven. One other came in pairs figure skating and one in hockey, leaving two for the men in races.

Most of the Soviet medals came in sports that are about as fascinating to American as the apple bobbing championship of East Lima, Ohio.

Jean Saubert, a serious girl from Oregon with an urchin haircut and an urge to join the Peace Corps, won a silver and a bronze medal in women's skiing.

The only American gold medal came in speed skating, where Terry McDermott, who handles the shears in the third chair of a barber shop in Bay City, Mich., won the 500 meters.

Scott Allen of Smoke Rise, N.J., who was 15 two days ago, won a bronze medal in figure skating. He was the youngest skating medal winner in winter Olympics history.

Billy Kidd of Slove, Vt., and Jimmy Heuga of Tahoe City, Calif., won the medals in men's skiing.

Then, to the great relief of local authorities, they got the Olympic flame out before it started a brush fire.

With the lack of snow in Innsbruck, the gas-fed flame had been a distinct fire hazard for 12 days.

Milwaukee Rink Will Represent State in New York

WAUSAU (AP)—The Lorry Brodd rink of Milwaukee has won the Wisconsin State Bonspiel and will represent the state at the national championships at Utica, N.Y.

The Brodd rink, which includes as members Bobby Schiev, Ken Moebius and Howard Hoeibus, took the state title with a 7-6 victory Sunday over the defending champion Bud Somerville rink of Superior.

Other rinks in the championship round were Ed Pope of Wausau and Bob Mortenson of Madison.

Johnson Wins Jumping Crown

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Except for Dave Norby of Madison, Wis., the Class B winner, Michigan skiers dominated Sunday's 59th Invitational.

The Green Bay marksmen were firing at goaltender Bernice Drlica, a 20-year-old Hibbing, Minn., native making his first appearance in the Rochester cage. Drlica obviously was nervous at the start, but settled down and came up with some fantastic saves before the game ended, twice stopping Bobcats on open breakaways. He was

Nicklaus Wins Phoenix Open

Brue Finishes Second With Total of 274

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus remembered some thing Arnold Palmer showed him two years ago and used it to advantage in winning the $50,000 Phoenix Open, an event, Arnie had captured the past three years.

"He used a driver on all the holes and won by a mile," Nicklaus recalled as he pocketed the first prize check with a 66 and 72-hole score of 271.

The burly young pro from Columbus, Ohio, proved his ability with a driver when he blasted 350 yards off the tee on the fourth hole and then hit hole high, six feet away from the hole on the 305-yard fifth hole.

That brought a birdie and eagle and sent Nicklaus into the lead to stay en route to his first 1964 victory.

"You hit a driver and you have a chance for birdies," Jack explained. "You may hit behind trees a couple of times, but overall it's to your advantage to use the driver."

Cinderella Player He proved it with a finish three strokes ahead of the tournament's Cinderella man, Bobby Brue, a former Milwaukee amateur star who got into the event only because 11 others dropped out. Brue, 29, was the last alternate admitted to the field, yet he put together rounds of 70-67-67-70 for a 274.

Until he bogeyed the 15th hole, Brue appeared to have a chance of catching Nicklaus, who had three bogeys himself on the back nine after a 30 going out. As it was, bespectacled Bobby collected his largest golf check—$1,000.

Deadlocked at 275 were Gary Player of South Africa, making his first 1964 United States start, and San Diego's Gene Littler. They had 72 and 67 respectively the final day.

George Bayer, the third round leader, went over par on the final two holes to finish at 276 despite being only two strokes behind Nicklaus through 16. He three-putted both the 17th and 18th greens. Big Jack birdied the 18th to boost his margin.

Palmer wound up with 278 and a tie for 11th place.

Merkes Pin Team Takes State Meet Lead in Class B

Appleton Unit Hits 2,377 Total; Charlotte Berghuis Second in 'D'

Merkes Electric, of Appleton, rolled into first place Class B of the Wisconsin Women's Bowling Association tournament here over the weekend.

Merkes posted a 2,377 total to grab the lead while Erickson Druggs, Clintonville, took over second place with a 2,268 series. Louie's Supper Club, Appleton, dropped to third place in Class B.

Betty Cutler led the Merkes team into first place with a booming 565 series and Shirley Joecks added a 511. Betty had a 202 singleton Shirley posted a 194 count. Other individual scores for Merkes included Myrna Schoenhaar, 437; Jane Kamps, 445 and Jean Fuhrmann, 399. The team bowls regularly in the Ten-Pin Toilers League.

Only three other changes were noted in the team events over the weekend. Jensen's Bar, Reedsburg, took the Class C lead with a 2,159 total and Mar-ek's Bar, Bloomer, went into second with a 2,150. In Class E, Dietz Evergreen, Hayward, moved into first with a 1,824 total.

Betty Clow, Neenah, maintained her lead in the Class A singles. In Class B, Vernice Motel, Waterloo, rolled into second place with a 531 series and Dorothy Ross, Eau Claire, tied Doris Erdman, Sheboygan, for third with a 527 series.

Charlotte Berghuis, Appleton, took over second place in the Class D singles with a 461 series while Gladys Uhl, Coleman, took the lead with a 477 set.

E. Brandt and E. Spoehr of Black Creek went into second place in the Class C doubles with a 961 series while A. Glass and J. Glass, Poy Sippi, rolled 882 to take over second in Class D doubles.

And if All-American Gary Bradds has anything to do with it—and he will—the Buckeyes should come out on top.

Bradds is the gangling 6-foot-11 pivotman who two years ago played in the shadow of the great Jerry Lucas. With Lucas gone last year, Bradds led Ohio State to a share of the Big Ten title with Illinois and earned All-America honors.

As a senior this year, Bradds is well on his way to smashing Big Ten scoring records for a single season. Almost single-handedly Bradds has kept Ohio State in the running for a fifth straight title.

Should the favored Buckeyes defeat Illinois, Ohio State will claim within one game of league-leading Michigan with six games to play.

Bradds, who scored 42 points last Monday night in an 88-85 victory over Michigan, came through with 40 more against Indiana Saturday to give Ohio State a pulsating 98-95 overtime triumph at Indiana.

Has 37.5 Average Scoring 40 or more points seems to be the standing order for Bradds who has accomplished the feat in his last four conference games. This has left him with a stunning 37.5 average per game, well ahead of the record of 32.8 set by Purdue's Terry Dischinger two years ago.

Despite Bradds' outstanding performances, Michigan shows no signs of cracking. After dropping its one-point decision at Ohio State, the Wolverines bounced back and dismantled Illinois 93-82 at Champaign Saturday.

Michigan will be idle until Saturday when it takes on Indiana at 6 p.m. The White Illinois and Ohio State Black Hawks into a first-place battle for second place stake.

Detroit went five tonight, Indiana (1-5) plays at points ahead of New York in Iowa (1-4).

Their fourth-place battle with a Northwestern (4-3) is at Wisconsin 4-2 triumph over the Rangers, consin (2-4) Tuesday night. Both Boston Coach Milt Schmidt teams were victorious Saturday.

Merkes Electric, of Appleton, rolled into first place Class B of the Wisconsin Women's Bowling Association tournament here over the weekend.

Merkes posted a 2,377 total to grab the lead while Erickson Druggs, Clintonville, took over second place with a 2,268 series. Louie's Supper Club, Appleton, dropped to third place in Class B.

Betty Cutler led the Merkes team into first place with a booming 565 series and Shirley Joecks added a 511. Betty had a 202 singleton Shirley posted a 194 count. Other individual scores for Merkes included Myrna Schoenhaar, 437; Jane Kamps, 445 and Jean Fuhrmann, 399. The team bowls regularly in the Ten-Pin Toilers League.

Only three other changes were noted in the team events over the weekend. Jensen's Bar, Reedsburg, took the Class C lead with a 2,159 total and Mar-ek's Bar, Bloomer, went into second with a 2,150. In Class E, Dietz Evergreen, Hayward, moved into first with a 1,824 total.

Betty Clow, Neenah, maintained her lead in the Class A singles. In Class B, Vernice Motel, Waterloo, rolled into second place with a 531 series and Dorothy Ross, Eau Claire, tied Doris Erdman, Sheboygan, for third with a 527 series.

Charlotte Berghuis, Appleton, took over second place in the Class D singles with a 461 series while Gladys Uhl, Coleman, took the lead with a 477 set.

E. Brandt and E. Spoehr of Black Creek went into second place in the Class C doubles with a 961 series while A. Glass and J. Glass, Poy Sippi, rolled 882 to take over second in Class D doubles.

All or Nothing The all or nothing decision was made by Coach Johnny Erickson, who said that in the second half "we used six different defenses—some we never even practiced."

"Our press in the last three minutes really upset Purdue," the coach continued. "It forced Purdue out of its game and also helped us to steal the ball several times."

As Erickson's review continued, Wisconsin basketball Badgers used, he said, "And how about Badgers listed today as they that Hearden. It takes a great kick on talking about their 81-60 victory over Purdue."

"He'll get better now that the nervousness that goes with a debut is over," Erickson said. "but his play was beyond my expectation."

The Badgers trailed by 25 in the fourth quarter, but Hearden's clutch play helped them come back to win 81-60.

Regains Form Sonoma's Gustafson regained his early season form and scored 26 points, his high for a Big Ten game. He also had 13 rebounds.

Grams, who hits from way out when traffic under the boards is too heavy, worked his specialty before cooling off. "But for 1241 and first place in the he made them when we really minor doubles in the Wisconsin needed them," Erickson said.

The Badgers make their next start Tuesday, entertaining Guzewski had 607, Homacher Northwestern.

Kentucky, Duke Play Key Games This Week

Vanderbilt and Davidson Also Face Tough Foes

BY DICK COUCH
College basketball has hit the top of the stretch with a quartet of Southern cage powers bunched near the head of the pack.

Kentucky, Davidson, Vanderbilt and Duke are among the nation's top ten, and all four will be in the thick of this week's scramble for conference and national honors.

Kentucky, No. 3 in last week's Associated Press major college poll, meets Southeastern Conference foe Mississippi State tonight. The Wildcats, tied with Georgia Tech for the lead in a wide-open SEC scramble, ran their season mark to 17-2 Saturday by routing Mississippi 102-59.

Major Scraps
Eighth-ranked Vanderbilt is involved in the week's major SEC scraps. Vandy, one-half a game behind in the league race and 17-2 over-all, has toughies with Georgia Tech on Wednesday and Tennessee on Saturday. The Commodores, beaten by Tennessee in their SEC opener, nipped LSU 66-64 Saturday.

Fifth-ranked Davidson, 18-1, preps for Saturday's showdown at seventh-ranked Duke, 15-3.

Kotlarek Says Short Runway Hampered Him

U. S. Jumper Satisfied; Praises Scandinavian Skiers

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., who was the top American in the closing 90-meter jumping competition at the Winter Olympics, said Sunday he was handicapped by a shortened runway ordered by the international jury.

"I am good only if I can compete from the very top of the jumping board, but I guess the jury was right because watery snow on the slopes was a considerable danger to the jumpers."

Kotlarek, who finished 24th on leaps of 285 feet and 266 feet for 197.50 points, said, "I was satisfied just the same. There is nothing we can do against those Scandinavians. They are really terrific."

Final Event
Toralf Engan of Norway won the gold medal in the final event on the Winter Olympic program on jumps of 307 and 297 feet for 230.70 points, edging 70-meter gold medalist Veikko Kankkonen of Finland. Kankkonen scored 313 and 297 for 228.90 points.

The competition is decided on the best two out of three jumps, and the point total is computed on both distance and form. Engan's form was the decisive factor, but he thought countryman Torgeir Brandtzaeg won.

Besides Kotlarek, three other Americans were entered. Dave Hicks of Duluth finished 29th on jumps of 279 and 276 feet for 195.30 points; Austen Samuelstuen of Boulder, Colo., was 33rd after leaps of 267 and 264 for 189.00 points, and John Balanz of Minneapolis was 41st on jumps of 272 and 241 for 180.20 points.

the victim of some decidedly loose defensive play by the Mustangs. Pete Buchmann, Hank Therrien and Stu Anderson staked the Cats to their early 3-0 advantage before veteran Ken Johansson got the Mustangs on the scoreboard at 16:14 of the first period.

Larry Lawman's goal at 4:43 of the second period brought the Mustangs within one goal—they were that close twice more in the game—but Yewman made it 4-2 Green Bay before Johansson intercepted a Mayasich pass in front of the GB cage and fired the puck past Jim Matteson.

Rebounded Shot
Gene Rebello, however, rebounded a Darryl Wennechuk shot at 14:17 of the period to renew Green Bay's two goal advantage. At this stage of the game, the Bobcats had established a definite superiority.

Ice Chips—The final period was enlivened by fights between Johansson and Fuzzy Frenette, Frank and Schutte. In all, the officials meted out 37 minutes in penalties, 20 against Green Bay. Mattson, who fended off the Mustangs' last-period surge with some fine goaltending, was cut above the right eye by a misguided stick in the third period, but finished out the game after medical attention. Yewman remained overnight in a Rochester hospital and was due to return home today.

with two Southern Conference games. The Wildcats, idle last Saturday, will try to increase their league lead against Richmond Tuesday and Furman Thursday.

Duke, meanwhile, seeks a 28th straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory at Virginia tonight. The Blue Devils made it 27 in a row by slugging Maryland 104-72 Saturday.

The rugged Missouri Valley Conference rates top billing to-night, however, as fifth-ranked Wichita puts its MVC lead on the line against upstart Drake.

The Shockers, 17-4, dropped their first Valley decision in seven starts Saturday at Bradley 76-74 while Drake topped St. Louis 70-57. Drake, 4-1 in the MVC and 14-4 over-all, has climbed from last year's league cellar into this season's runner-up spot.

Each Score Wins
UCLA and Michigan, the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 clubs, each won Saturday. But while Michigan, 16-2, coasted by Big Ten rival Illinois 93-82, the Bruins had to scramble for their 19th straight victory, a 53-56 squeaker over Big Six rival California.

Sixth-ranked Villanova, ninth-ranked Loyola of Chicago and 10th-rated DePaul all stumbled. Villanova lost star Wally Jones with a hip injury as well as a 63-59 decision to LaSalle. St. John's of New York handed Loyola's defending national champs their fifth defeat 71-69 and Memphis State buried DePaul 88-67.

Other major conference leaders and how they fared Saturday:

Southwest: Texas A&M, 6-0, beat Arkansas 72-64.
Big Eight: Oklahoma State, 5-1, beat Missouri 80-61.
Western Athletic: Utah, 3-0, beat Brigham Young 91-89 in overtime.
Ivy: Princeton, Cornell, Yale, Penn, 5-2; Princeton 72, Dartmouth 65; Cornell 84, Brown 68; Yale 73, Columbia 57; Penn 75, Harvard 67.

For a few hours Sunday afternoon Dolph Schayes was the all-time high scorer again in the National Basketball Association.

Then, just as it had done the night before, the ax fell on Philadelphia's 35-year-old coach and sometime player.

Dolph, plugging a gap created by injuries to 76er starters Larry Costello and Dave Gambee, tallied 11 points Sunday in Philadelphia's 120-109 loss to Boston.

The 11 points raised his career total to 19,220, five more than St. Louis' Bob Pettit, who had overhauled Schayes Saturday night.

But Pettit, the Hawks' 31-year-old ring leader, reclaimed the lead later in the day with a 23-point effort as St. Louis trimmed San Francisco 116-111.

In 15 Seasons
Pettit has 19,248 points in a 10-year NBA career. Schayes, who built his record in 15 seasons with the now-defunct Syracuse Nats, never may get any closer. Dolph is a part-timer now while Pettit is averaging 28 points a game.

While Pettit was dethroning Schayes, Los Angeles' Jerry West quietly returned to action after an eight-game layoff. The Lakers lost seven of those eight, as West nursed a broken right thumb.

West, his thumb in a splint, scored 13 and 19 points during the weekend but failed to revive the slumping Lakers, who have tumbled from first to third in the Western Division.

The Lakers lost to Philly 109-101 Saturday and Baltimore 119-110 Sunday. They trail San Francisco by three games and St. Louis by one.

In Sunday's only evening action, Cincinnati bombed Detroit 135-107 and stayed within 3½ games of Boston in the East.

Tom Yonans set the pace in Continental League at Jerry's Lanes. Kimberly, with a 589 triple, Frank Kroiss took game honors with a 233.

Other high scorers were Harold Nelson, 569; and Jim Greiner, 551. Bob Angell picked up a 4-7-9-10 split. Kimberly D-X (15-6) tops Gordy's and Sumchick by one game.

Les Hooyman socked a 585 series to lead the Tuesday Night Businessmen's League at Gene's Alleys, Freedom.

Jim Ludwig and Ray Diedrich checked in with counts of 571 and 555, respectively. Garvey Brothers Sheet Metal (39-18) ranks four games ahead of Skunk Bill Bar in the standings.

Golf Sponsors' Unit Refuses To Give TV Rights to PGA

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The International Golf Sponsors' Association unanimously passed a resolution Sunday refusing to give the Professional Golfers' Association tournament television rights.

The action came as the group's board of directors ended a two-day meeting.

In a prepared statement, issued by ISGA president Arnold Bockstruck of St. Paul, Minn., the organization also labeled the players' efforts to obtain the rights "dictatorial and unfair."

The TV issue came up this week when the players refused to play in the $50,000 Phoenix Open until the sponsoring Phoenix Thunderbirds signed a contract giving them TV rights.

The Thunderbirds at first refused, but then signed when the PGA said they could keep $5,000 received from Sports Network, Inc., for screening part of the tourney.

Player Pension Fund
The PGA position is that it can do a better job of presenting tournament golf, make the players and sponsors more money, and create a player pension fund.

The ISGA wants no part of such a plan, although its resolution states it is willing to help the players create a pension fund by some other method.

"We are in sympathy with the players for their stated desire for a pension plan," Bockstruck said, "and we have stated before that we will be pleased to work toward that end."

"We have increased our purses repeatedly in recent years to the point where the pros now are playing for prize money this year in excess of $2 million."

Bockstruck said his groups represent 28 tournaments with purses totaling $1,250,000. "Furthermore," he said, "we will continue to return to the players all the money we can in the form of either larger purses or in a pension fund should they prefer it that way."

"But as any businessman will understand, we cannot turn

Sets Record in Waupaca 'Spiel

Dushek Rink Wins Third Title in Row

BY DICK McDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — An almost impossible feat was accomplished by the Harold Dushek rink during the weekend when the rink won first place for the third consecutive year at the annual Waupaca Bonspiel.

The rink, consisting of Harold Dushek, skip; Dick Johnson, third; John Hansen, second, and Elmer Dushek, lead, is the only team in the 21-year history of the local bonspiels to have three wins, much less having three wins in a row. The Eddie Pope rink, made up of New London and Waupaca curlers, had first place wins in 1953 and 1961 before Dushek's men took over.

The Dushek rink won the championship with a 12-4 victory over another Waupaca rink, the Dan Fallgatter rink, for first won the place in the first event, the H. Williams Event.

The Ken Stewart rink, Arlington—consisting of Stewart, Hilbert Steffenhagen, Lyall Caldwell and Ray Dushek—won the second event by a 9-8 win over Joe Beadie of Calesville. This is known as the Don Fallgatter Event. Beadie had one laying in 10th end and the hammer but failed to crack the Stewart defense.

The Chain O'Lakes Event, the third event, was won 10-9 by the Harold Bammel rink in a thrilling 10th end decision over Cornel Swalheim, of Arlington. The game was tied 7-all in the eighth and Bammel scored three in the ninth. Swalheim scored two in the 10th to lose by one stone.

Members of the Bammel rink were Bammel, skip; Ted Bemis, Alver Lindscoog and Eddie Peterson.

Cliff Mullarkey, Clintonville, won the fourth event, the F. O. Stratton Event. Mullarkey and teammates James Alward, Oscar Schroeder and A. B. Berg, collected the John Fisher rink of Sauk Ste. Marie, Canada, 11-3, losers.

Waupaca was the curling hub of the state since Wednesday when the Canadian curlers started to arrive. The 32-team bonspiel had 25 visiting teams which is one of the biggest groups of visiting teams at any bonspiel in the state.

The Dushek rink in the open game, the winners beat Dr. Gordon Wickman, Las Vegas, N.M., 12-9. The rink that edged the Harold Heuer rink, Clintonville, 11-10, and the Mullarkey rink, 10-8, to lead to the semi-finals. In the semi-final, Du-laurant with three games remaining in the season.

Other games Thursday will see Ken Primeau of Sauk Ste. Marie, Canada, in the opening round; covered the Norman Bar-tric.

IPC, leader in the Major AA Basketball League, will meet AAL in this week's feature game.

IPC was unbeaten before going the Harold Heuer rink, Clintonville, 11-10, and the Mullarkey rink, 10-8, to lead to the semi-finals. In the semi-final, Du-laurant with three games remaining in the season.

Higher Spending After Tax Cut Is Explained

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"Those great, big, beautiful dividend payments to individual figures Johnson and his econo- stockholders would amount to mists are throwing around just about $1 billion. This would don't add up, boost the after-tax incomes of How can an consumers to approximately $10 $11½ billion tax billion. cut come out to an extra $30 bil- in spending able to assume that individuals each year? would spend about 93 cents of It's an intelli- every after-tax $1—suggesting a gent question rise in our spending of well over which I suspect $9 billion. many of you would like to have answered So here, in my "one plus one equals two" terms, is how the President's Council of Economic Advisers reaches the conclusion that $11.5 billion of tax cuts will add up to $30 billion (give or take a couple of billions) in additional spending year after year

First, here are the key figures. If the tax cuts were in full effect today the after-tax incomes of individuals would be around $9 billion higher than they are and the after-tax profits of corporations would be around $2.3 billion higher than they are. Now:

(1) Based on past dividend payment patterns, it's reasonable to assume that corporations would distribute part of their higher after-tax profits in dividividends and that the increase in dividend payments to individual stockholders would amount to about $1 billion. This would don't add up, boost the after-tax incomes of How can an consumers to approximately $10 $11½ billion tax billion. cut come out to an extra $30 bil- in spending able to assume that individuals each year? would spend about 93 cents of It's an intelli- every after-tax $1—suggesting a gent question rise in our spending of well over which I suspect $9 billion. many of you would like to have answered So here, in my "one plus one equals two" terms, is how the President's Council of Economic Advisers reaches the conclusion that $11.5 billion of tax cuts will add up to $30 billion (give or take a couple of billions) in additional spending year after year

(2) Based on past consumer spending patterns, it's reasonable to assume that individuals would spend about 93 cents of every after-tax $1—suggesting a question rise in our spending of well over $9 billion. (3) This enormous increase in our spending unquestionably would spur higher production of consumer goods and this higher production would, in the CEA's words, mean "extra employment, higher payrolls, higher profits and higher farm and professional and service incomes"

(4) In turn, these increases in production, profits, jobs, payrolls would "generate still further increases in spending and incomes."

(5) A conservative estimate is that the initial rise of $9 billion of our spending plus the extra production plus the still additional consumer spending would swell our total economy by $18 billion. A complicated economic theory about the chain effect of spending lies behind this statistic but the simple arithmetic of it can be boiled down to multi- (6) Then as industrial produc- tion climbs toward capacity, as sales mount and as corporations feel the direct impact of their lower tax rates and other tax hikes their spending on new inventives, businessmen will plants and equipment and spend more on inventories, too. In an- economic theory of the chain ef- fect of spending, these figures for 1964, corporations already must be multiplied by 2—which are significantly upgrading their equipment this year.

(7) At the same time the fed- eral tax cuts will, it is esti- mated, boost state and local government revenues by $2.9 bil- lion—at present tax rates—and this will stimulate more spend- ing by states and localities on of schools, roads, urban facilities, couple of billions, added to our Higher consumer incomes also are expected to accelerate build- ing of houses.

No Precise Figure

(8) While the President's ad- visers admit the exact amount of each of the above two in- creases is hard to figure with precision, their "reasonable" projection is that they'll total $5 billion.

(9) Again, according to the economic theory of the chain ef- fect of spending, these figures for 1964, corporations already must be multiplied by 2—which are significantly upgrading their equipment this year.

(10) And there you have it. An extra $18 billion or so just from rising consumer spend- ing, another $10 to $14 billion from rising business investment, state and local government spending and building of houses, a total of $30 billion, give or take a couple of billions, added to our nation's economy "not just once, but year-in and year-out, since this is a permanent, not a one-shot, tax cut."

It will be one of the greatest triumphs of economics in all history if it turns out this way. But Congress and the White House are about to take the gigantic calculated risk that it will and the above "one plus one equals two" tells you the reasoning behind the gamble. (Copyright 1964)

Live Within Your Income

Size of Family, Members' Ages Determine Food Budget

BY MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley:

How come some of our readers talk about feeding a family of five or six on $30 to $35 a week—when I've seen it stated that it costs $10.60 to feed one person?

I'd sure like to see some of their magic menus!

Mrs. J. W., New Orleans, La.

Dear Mrs. W.:

They don't pull any rabbits out of the hat. The fact is simply this: when you're feeding a big family, the cost for each individual is less. While it may take $10.60 to buy groceries for a week for one person, the ratio goes down with each person added to the dinner table.

Age is a factor, too, in figuring the grocery bill. For example, the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated it costs $5.50 a week to feed a woman 35 years old, based on a low-cost food budget. But on the same budget scale, it cost $7.40 to feed a man the same age. A six-year-old child cost $4.50, while a 19-year-old boy cost $8.50.

You have to be a real mathematician these days to hit it right on the button. Just try serving them all stew. You can always throw in another carrot.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am a widow 73 years old, and live in my own modest home alone. I am living within my income. But is this the best way? I have been advised to sell my home and move to a Senior Citizens home or some place where I won't have to live alone.

I have $5,000 loaned out on real estate at 5 per cent. And $3,500 with a savings and loan company. I own 208 shares of stock. I get $62 a month Social Security. I drive my own car.

What do you advise?

Mrs. L. C. H., Dallas

Dear Mrs. H.:

I think you've already decided that being independent financially is not enough. By all means try to arrange your life so that you'll have the companionship you've begun to realize is the most important thing in life.

The cost of living in a Senior Citizens set-up varies widely, according to the community. Why don't you shop around, so to speak? Look over the possibilities within driving range. Then have a talk with your banker. He will be able to help you estimate how much money you would have, if you converted everything, including your house, into cash. See if there would be enough to buy an annuity, to guarantee you a life income. As I see it, your main objectives would be to have this income, to allow for board and personal expenses, and to have enough for final expenses.

It would be an irrevocable step, of course. But exchanging property for people isn't a bad deal.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Could you please tell me what the average family with four children (three girls between 5 and 10 years old, one boy 2) spends a month, on an average for clothes?

M. S., Smithtown, L. I.

Dear M. S.:

The usual allotment for clothes is from 8 to 15 per cent of the family income. Whether you take the low figure or the high depends on what other expenses are involved.

In your case, you might find the low figure quite adequate, as your girls are in an age range that makes hand-me-downs logical. As a mother with four children, you might as well resign yourself to getting the small end of the deal, where your own clothes are concerned.

You'll find that dressing all of you in wash-and-wear outfits actually saves a substantial sum. Fewer changes are necessary when clothing can be washed and dried within a couple of hours. And the cost of upkeep is cut right to the bone.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am a cardiac patient who has had two heart attacks, and also has arthritis of the spine. I am unable to work on doctor's orders, and have not worked since July 1962.

I draw a disability Social Security check and have income from a flat and my wife has a small job. Is there any certain way of filling out my income tax returns? And am I entitled to any other deductions, such as sick leave time, and do I state my condition on my tax return? We have always filed a joint return, even though this is the first time my wife has worked since 1945.

J. S., Toledo, Ohio

Dear J. S.:

Fill out your income tax return just as you have in the past. Your Social Security benefits are not subject to tax.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper. Enclosed, stamped, self-addressed Cy Barrett, in care of this newspaper for reply.)

There is no need to shout. Winston speaks for itself. It is America's largest-selling filter cigarette, by far.

What does Winston have that makes it the leader? Quite simply, the facts are these:

Winston has a pure white, modern filter.

Winston has exclusive Filter-Blend—fine tobaccos specially selected, then specially processed for filter smoking.

And, of course, Winston has flavor—the best there is.

So if you are thinking of changing to a filter cigarette, consider this:

People who know and enjoy filter smoking make Winston their overwhelming choice.

We think you will, too. Because...

Winston tastes good, like a cigarette should.

House Leaders Aim No U. S. Pledge At Civil Rights Bill To Renegotiate Passage by Tonight Canal Treaty

Majority Cuts Off Debate
In Order to Force Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted today to cut off debate on the civil rights bill in an effort to bring it to a final vote this afternoon.

Using their heavy majority to stifle Southern talk against the bill, the civil rights forces rammed through a debate limiting motion by 211-73.

Under it all debate on the controversial job equality section will end at 1 p.m. (EST). Three more minor titles remain to be acted on before a final vote can be taken, and each one will also probably be subject to a time-limit.

Foes of the bill, chiefly Southerners, could still cause difficulties and delay in reaching a final vote.

A demand for a fully printed copy of the bill—containing all amendments so far adopted—can be made by any member. Such a demand could hold up the final vote for several hours.

May Ask Roll Calls

There could also be demands for a roll call on each of the amendments adopted—and so far there have been 28, with several more likely.

The house met early and was prepared to sit late in an effort to get the 10-point bill to a final vote.

The biggest question was what final form the employment section might take.

The Southern opposition made only a token effort to knock the section out of the bill during a 10-hour session Saturday and concentrated with some success on amendments designed to

13 East German Sports Fans and Competitor Defect

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Thirteen sports fans from Eastern European Communist countries and one East German woman Olympics competitor have defected, authorities reported today.

West German sources identified the Olympics competitor as Ute Gaehler, a 23-year-old secretary who was a substitute on the East German women's bobsled team. West German informants said she slipped out of her billet Saturday night while the rest of her team was attending a reception and made for the West German border 25 miles away.

Innsbruck police said seven Hungarians, five Czechs and an East German doctor who came here to attend the Winter Olympics events had asked asylum in Austria.

Ruby Change of Venue Is Denied

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's defense chief asked today that Ruby's trial on charges of murdering President Kennedy's accused assassin be transferred to another city without going into any evidence. Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown overruled him.

Chief defense attorney Melvin Belli made the motion after Judge Brown ruled against him on two other counts.

State Department Denies Statement By Latin American

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high Latin American source has claimed the United States committed itself in 1952 to renegotiating the Panama Canal treaty, but the U.S. State Department says no such agreement was made.

"There is not and never has been a secret governmental agreement between the United States and Panama concerning treaty relationships," a State Department spokesman said in a prepared statement Sunday night.

Memorandum Alleged

Earlier, the Latin American source said Panamanian officials told the Inter-American Peace Committee last month that a memorandum signed in 1952 committed the United States to renegotiate the 1903 treaty, under which the United States runs the canal.

Efforts by the committee to set up U.S.-Panama negotiations after rioting Jan. 9 on the Canal Zone border collapsed over U.S. refusal to agree in advance to Panamanian demands that the talks include renegotiation of the treaty.

A committee of the Organization of American States is now looking into Panamanian charges that the United States is an aggressor. The committee is seeking a basis for new U.S.-Panama talks.

Oswald's Mother Gives Testimony At Murder Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Oswald took "new evidence" before the Warren commission today which she says will prove that her son, Lee Harvey Oswald, did not fire the shots that killed John F. Kennedy.

The 56-year-old practical nurse, who asked for a chance to appear before the presidential tribunal investigating the Kennedy assassination, was expected to contradict testimony made last week by Oswald's 22-year-old widow.

Marina Oswald told the commission, and later a news conference, that she did not like to believe that her husband killed President Kennedy Nov. 22 in Dallas, but the facts would not permit her to reach any other conclusion.

Sessions of the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, are closed, but Mrs. Marguerite Oswald told reporters Sunday night:

"I think my son is innocent, and I think I can produce evidence that he is innocent. I men had been recovered. The have documents, letters and other evidence. I think I can present a good case."

Now to provide a study in depth of the young driver, his problems, and specifically of the problems that can help him—and why—AP member newspapers all over the state have probed their local records, talked to judges, police experts, school administrators and insurance men for a detailed and revealing report starting in this newspaper today on page 3.

They found another small hole about 100 yards away and began to shout. Their cries were heard by Bonnin, who located them and called for help.

Bishop said entrances to the cave found in recent years have been plugged up, but added, "You know how boys are, they always find more."

They crawled into the cave on the Paul Bonnin farm, about four miles west of Platteville. The cave is part of a natural fault in solid rock. The boys were some distance into the fault, which wanders under a bluff, where a cave-in behind blocked their escape.

They found another small hole about 100 yards away and began to shout. Their cries were heard by Bonnin, who located them and called for help.

Saboteurs Sought As Train Wreckers

91-Car Freight Dynamited in Florida; $250,000 Damage

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Investigators sought today to track down saboteurs who dynamited a 91-car freight train and a work train derrick of the strike-harassed Florida East Coast Railway.

No one was injured in the blasts Sunday—19 miles apart—which caused damage estimated by W.L. Thornton, the carrier's chief operating officer, at more than $250,000.

"It was definitely sabotage," Thornton said. "I am not implying the unions are to blame. No one knows at this time who did this."

Worst Incident

George Leighty, chief negotiator for the 11 striking unions, said he knew absolutely nothing about it. He said nothing members had been warned not to resort to violence.

The sabotage was the worst directed against the 577-mile railroad, which operates between Jacksonville and Florida City, south of Miami, since the nonoperating unions struck Jan. 23, 1953. Railroad officials said there have been 146 incidents.

Union Demands

About 1,200 union employees struck, idling about 800 others. They demanded the 19.23 cents-an-hour pay raise agreed to by nearly all class one railroads on a national level. The Florida East Coast line, which was not a party to the negotiations, said it couldn't afford the raise, and wanted to bargain separately.

There has been no passenger service since the strike, but freight service has been built up to four trains each way daily, using supervisory personnel.

Chinese Nationalist police announced today the bodies of the men had been recovered. The men were working at the bottom of a 3,000-foot shaft when the blast occurred.

Minister Says Panama Will Go to U.N. Unless OAS Acts on Charges

PANAMA (AP)—A renewed pledge to press Panama's charges of U.S. aggression before the United Nations if the Organization of American States fails to act was delivered to more than 2,000 anti-American demonstrators Sunday night.

Max Arosemena, ranking cabinet minister, made the promise to a rally organized by the Panamanian Students Federation.

The demonstrators gathered at the Presidential Palace and parked their cars in the family yard. Authorities found their bodies after the children became alarmed because their parents had not returned.

Speakers denounced the exiles as "worms supporting North American imperialism."

Man Posing as FBI Agent Put

NEW YORK (AP)—Peter Hurkos, who says he has a sixth sense helpful to police in murder investigations, has been charged with impersonating an FBI agent.

Arrested in Hotel

The purported incident last Dec. 19 at Wauwatosa, Wis., led to Hurkos' arrest Sunday in a Manhattan hotel.

In Milwaukee, the FBI said Hurkos had showed the attendants a rifle with a telescopic sight and also told them he was en route to take part in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnap investigation.

Hurkos, 52, claims to have attained powers of extra-sensory perception—a sixth sense roughly defined as telepathy—when he fell on his head 21 years ago. Through last Wednesday, he worked with police for eight days in an attempt to solve the stranglings of 11 women in the Boston area since June 14, 1962.

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts said Hurkos, after examining evidence in the slayings, maintained that all 11 crimes were committed by one man. And, a spokesman for Brooke added, Hurkos provided a description of the killer that came "uncannily close" to describing an itinerant shoe salesman questioned in the cases.

Hurkos told authorities the killer was about 57, and the salesman is exactly that age, Brooke's spokesman emphasized that the salesman "was already under surveillance" at the time Hurkos supplied the description.

The spokesman added that Hurkos did not cause the salesman's arrest or confinement. He said the salesman "was committed to a mental hospital by his doctor, not by police or by Hur-

Two Killed in Cooperstown Head-on Crash

State Traffic Fatality Toll
Jumps to 102

A Preble killer and a Shawano man were killed Sunday night when their cars collided on U.S. 141 in Manitowish County.

Killed in the head-on collision about three and a half miles south of Cooperstown were Jim F. Van Eycke, 40, 732 Lime Kiln Road, Preble, and William A. Martin, 72, of Shawano.

Their deaths, along with two other weekend fatalities and another early today, raised Wisconsin's highway toll for Communist Viet Cong terrorists from year to 102 compared with 64 at this time last year.

Van Eycke, a sailor stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, was traveling southbound, apparently returning to Great Lakes, according to Manitowish authorities.

Doorn Hill

His car came down a hill, crossed into the opposite traffic lane on a curve, and smashed head-on into Martin's northbound car. Both men were alone.

Van Eycke died instantly of crushing head injuries, police said.

Bombs Set Off Under Bleachers

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Two bombs planted by terrorists destroyed a bleachers during a softball game in Pershing Stadium Sunday night. Two U.S. servicemen were killed and 23 other Americans were injured.

An entire American family was injured. The father was kept in the hospital, but his wife and their young daughter were released after treatment. Three other women also were wounded slightly.

Vietnamese police reported that they arrested three suspects in the bombing.

The bombs had been planted under six inches of earth about 20 feet apart presumably before the game.

Other weekend fatalities and another early today, raised Wisconsin's highway toll for Communist Viet Cong terrorists from year to 102 compared with 64 at this time last year.

Official Statement

Names of the victims have not been released pending notification of their next of kin.

In Washington the State Department issued a statement saying:

"This is the most serious of the series of incidents which the Viet Cong have perpetrated against the Americans, starting in 1957. We are resolved to continue extending full assistance to the government and people of Viet Nam in their struggle to put an end to such Communist terrorism."

The carefully prepared bombing brought to three the toll of U.S. servicemen's deaths and to more than 27 the number of Americans wounded by Viet Cong guerrilla action in the Saigon area in a week.

More Bombings Likely

It was feared some such bombings would be directed against Americans in a campaign of terror.

The scene of the bombing was Pershing Field, an athletic field near Saigon Airport used exclusively by U.S. service teams.

Authorities said the bombs appeared to be U.S.-made, 20-pound aerial fragmentation bombs.

There was speculation that Man Held at Waupaca on Adultery Charge

WAUPACA — John F. Muskevitsch Jr., 24, 516 S. Ashland St., Green Bay, in Municipal Justice Court waived a preliminary hearing on a charge of adultery and was ordered held for county court Saturday morning. He also faces a charge of non-support.

Muskevitsch was committed to the county jail when he failed to raise $2,000 bail on the adultery charge and $500 bail on the non-support charge.

He was arrested about 11 p.m. Thursday in the apartment of Mrs. James Starks, 25, Weyauwega. Mrs. Starks was charged with adultery Friday and bound over to County Court and committed to a woman's detention home in Appleton when she failed to raise $2,000 bail.

Muskevitsch was charged with failing to support his three children since Oct. 1 on a complaint signed by Mrs. Inez Batten.

Youths Admit Stealing Gas

New London Pair Placed on Probation By Waupaca Court

WAUPACA — Two New London teen-agers were placed on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for a year Saturday by Municipal Justice George Whalen after the pair admitted stealing gasoline.

Whalen sentenced Lawrence L. Awve and Gaylord L. Batten, both of route 3, to 30 days in the county jail on each of the two counts but stayed execution of the sentences.

Undersheriff William Mork said the two 16-year-olds and two juveniles admitted a series of gasoline thefts from farms in the New London-Manawa area.

Awve and Batten were charged with taking $2 worth of gasoline from the Gust Heimbruch farm, Jan. 19, and $8 worth of gasoline from the Alice Dearth estate farm Jan. 19. Both farms are in the Town of Little Wolf.

Batten admitted in court he had been involved in seven gasoline thefts last summer and fall. Awve was on probation to the sheriff for disorderly conduct in Weyauwega.

Mork said the juveniles were referred to the county welfare department.

Waupaca Municipal Court Collects $3,384 During January

WAUPACA — Municipal Justice George Whalen reports that during the month of January a total of $3,384 was collected in fines, forfeitures and fees in municipal court.

A breakdown of the department in which the fines were collected are sheriff's department, $160, county patrol, $994; state patrol, $960; conservation department, $95; and the City of Waupaca, $25. The total collected in fines was $2,234.

Fees and forfeitures which were collected during the month by Justice Whalen were $20 paid to the sheriff's department in urgent questions at the present time.

These and other questions probably will be reviewed again Tuesday night when a general meeting is scheduled at the community hall. Further plans, suggestions, moral support

Continued Search Brings on Community 'Soul Searching'

BY DICK McDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

AMHERST — A little bit of soul-searching goes into the quest for a physician when a community suddenly finds itself without one.

This community has been looking into a mirror, it sees what it and its populace has to offer.

The reflection apparently meets the approval of most residents. The only blemish is the fact that the village and area has been without the services of a doctor since Feb. 1.

The search for a doctor, according to one of the members of the special committee, has made a closer knit community by the realization that Amherst has a lot to offer.

Solidifies Community

Working together for a single purpose has done much to solidify the community. General meetings, many special committee meetings and discussions by people who meet on the street, usually open and end with the problem at hand.

From this, people have come to learn Amherst has fine school buildings; five churches, four of which have rather new buildings; good fishing and hunting, proximity to the northern area in the state for scenic and outdoor activities; hospitals in three nearby communities; progressive businessmen and most important, pride in the local community.

The special committee to find a doctor has been contacting colleges, universities, societies, and tracking down other leads which could possibly bring a family doctor to town.

Big Problem

One of the biggest problems, the committee has found is if any of the community should do State 149, three miles southwest to make it more attractive to a doctor.

There is an office near Main Street in the business district which can be modernized without too much effort.

The committee also is wondering if a drive should be started to provide funds for the purchase of a building. "What does a doctor want and what does he need?" seem to be the most urgent questions at the present time.

These and other questions probably will be reviewed again Tuesday night when a general meeting is scheduled at the community hall. Further plans, suggestions, moral support port for the committee and possible leads may enter the discussions.

Needs Doctor

All of the talk will narrow down to the fact Amherst needs a doctor. It is not only Amherst's problem, but also that of Amherst Junction, two miles away, and Nelsonville, four miles away.

Amherst in the early 1940's had two doctors and several dentists. Now there are none.

Three Hurt In Calumet Accidents

Kimberly Man Taken To Hospital After Two-Car Mishap

CHILTON — Three accidents Sunday in Calumet County resulted in injuries to three people.

Alfred LaDuke, 51, 518 Lamers Road, Kimberly, was treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital after a car he was driving skidded through the intersection of State 55 and Calumet County Trunk EE at 2:30 a.m. Sunday. LaDuke sustained cuts on the head and damage to his car estimated at more than $100 when his car struck a highway marker.

John P. Breister, 23, Fond du Lac, received cuts on the back, face and head when a car he was driving collided with a truck driven by Gordon H. Undermine just what, if any, of the County Trunk A and thing, the community should do State 149, three miles southwest to make it more attractive to a doctor.

Heading North

County police said Breister was headed north on Calumet County Trunk A. The Unhand vehicle was attempting to turn from State 149 onto A when the collision occurred.

A 20-year-old Chilton man was treated for hand cuts after a car in which he was riding went out of control on State 114, 3 1/2 miles north of Hilbert, and struck a utility pole backwards at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Taken to Calumet Memorial Hospital was Robert Korb, 20, 123 Brooklyn St., Chilton. Richard M. Hackbarth, 22, 418 Water St., Chilton, driver of the car, told county police he lost control of the car when he hit the shoulder of the highway.

Damages in all the accidents were estimated at more than $100.

Man Charged on Morals Count

WAUPACA—Marvin Prahl, 22, route 3, New London, was charged Saturday with having relations with a minor and procuring beer for a minor.

He was brought before Municipal Justice George Whalen. Prahl requested a preliminary hearing on the morals charge. The charge of procuring was transferred to County Court. Prahl was committed to the county jail when he failed to raise $2,000 bail.

He was arrested Thursday night on a complaint to the county highway crews could do the county highway striping and numbering.

Chilton City Tax Collections Run Ahead of 1963

CHILTON — 1964 city tax collections are up $1,044 over 1963. M. Merlin Schmidtkofer has announced.

As of Feb. 1, collections had reached $138,309 as compared with $124,305 at the same time last year.

Of the total collected this year $125,018 was for real estate taxes, $12,454 from personal property taxes, $762 for special assessments, and $74 for dog licenses.

A total of $25,966 was collected in "half" taxes as compared with $26,332 in the last year.

To qualify under this program a taxpayer must pay at least half of the total tax bill by Jan. 31. He then has until Aug. 1 to pay the remainder. This way a taxpayer can save accumulated interest on the taxes.

Approximately 175 people took advantage of this offer. Last year the number was approximately 140.

Taxpayers not taking advantage of the half payment plan must have their taxes paid in full by Feb. 23.

Judges Give Approval for Driver Education Training

BY FRED SNYDER

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin traffic court judges are convinced that a youth with approved driver training is a better driver than one lacking formal instruction.

Judges participating in an Associated Press newspaper study noted that no Wisconsin records are kept to provide statistical proof of the value of proper training.

Approved Training
But their many contacts with young drivers have made court officials strong believers in driver education.

The survey was prompted because of concern over an increasing number of accidents among young drivers.

Accidents Claim 46,000 Lives During 1963

CHICAGO (AP)—Accidents in the home and in public places claimed 46,000 lives last year and cost the nation approximately $2.15 billion, the National Safety Council reported Saturday.

The statistics represented a 1 per cent increase over 1962. The council said another 6.5 million persons suffered disabling injuries.

Home accidents accounted for 29,000 fatalities, 4.4 million injuries and cost $1.25 million, the NSC said.

Accidents in public places took another 17,000 lives, injured 2.1 million persons and cost $900 million, the organization added.

Accidents resulting from scheduled domestic air line passenger operations claimed the lives of 48 passengers and crewmen in 1963. These figures, the NSC said, did not include the deaths of 73 passengers and eight crewmen killed in a Maryland crash of an international flight.

Total aviation deaths last year totaled 1,100, the council said.

College Bowl Winner Flunks Out of School

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP)—Charles A. Mills, member of the Bowdoin College's successful television quiz team, has been dismissed for flunking two subjects.

Dean A. Leroy Greason, said Friday that Mills, of Cold Spring, N.Y., had been given academic warning in November, subject to approved training, and was put on scholastic probation for the second half of the fall semester.

Mills was one of the four regular members of the team that won each time they appeared on the maximum of five contests on the televised "College Bowl" program. They won a total of $14,000 in scholarship funds for Bowdoin.

Mills, a sophomore, came to Bowdoin from St. Peter's School, where he was a National Merit competition finalist and won first prize in his school's science court with adult offenders, fair.

He added he would like to spend more time with young traffic offenders in separate sessions but cannot do so because of other court work.

Harold J. DuRocher, Racine county juvenile judge, said that training provides a good knowledge of driving laws and added he favors a program so that a revoked driver's license could not be retrieved without more training.

Some Benefit
Racine County Judge Thomas Corbett said there would be some benefit if everyone was taught to drive in high school or at least taught the elements of highway safety and the rules of the road.

"Lack of knowledge of traffic laws is a major factor in accidents," he said.

Municipal Judge Kenneth A. Pucker of Marshfield said he made a five-year survey of driver training and found that no driver training graduate was directly responsible for an accident.

"Driver training should be a statutory requirement," he stated.

Traffic Court

Eau Claire County Judge Connor T. Hansen said he found very few students with driver education background appearing in traffic court.

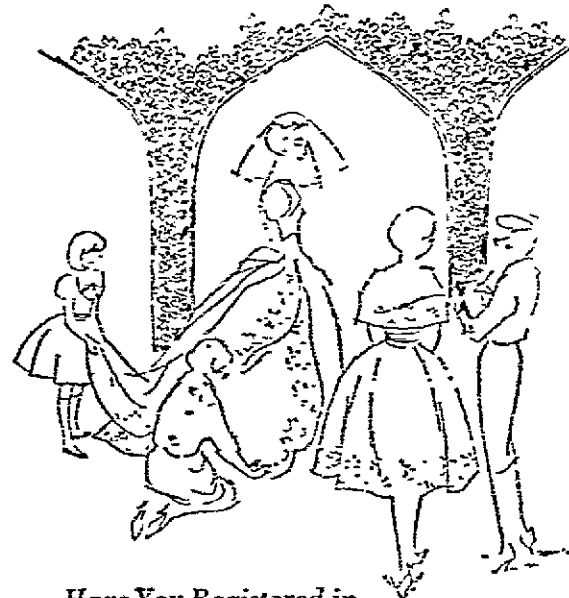

"Such courses are good but just aren't available to enough students who are going to be drivers," he complained.

"It's not a lack of interest on the part of a school board or administration but a lack of facilities and finances to enlarge such classes," Hansen said.

The Milwaukee police department's youth aid bureau has recognized the need for more information on the worth of driver training for young people. It launched a project in the field last fall.

Juvenile violators ordered to attend safety school are being checked to learn if they had approved driver training.

Stassen Makes No Primary Decision

Former Minnesota Governor Gets No Encouragement From Peterson

Despite a lack of encouragement from Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state chairman of the Republican Party, Harold Stassen said Sunday night he hasn't decided against entering Wisconsin's April 7 primary for the Republican presidential nomination.

The 56-year-old former Minnesota governor said in Philadelphia, where he now practices law, that he hadn't "decided one way or the other" about the Wisconsin contest.

Peterson said today that he explained to Stassen last Wednesday "just what we're trying to do here in Wisconsin."

"I told him we had the support of the eight major Republican candidates" for the John Byrnes favorite son state of delegates.

Avoid Primary
In order to avoid a costly, possible party-splitting presidential primary, the state GOP organization set up the Byrnes favorite son slate.

So far, Peterson has written agreements to stay out of the primary from New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, Michigan Gov. George Romney, Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, Kentucky Sen. Thruston Morton, Ambassador to South Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge, and former Vice President Richard Nixon.

Peterson said he also explained the Wisconsin primary election laws to Stassen. Peterson stressed that Democrats can cross over and vote for Republicans "and actually help pick the Republican candidate."

The GOP chairman said Stassen "expressed some surprise about our primary voting laws and that Democrats can vote for Republicans."

Stassen said Sunday night that he would "have to decide in a few days" because the closing date for filing a slate of convention delegates is March 6.

Filing Slate
"I have gotten my New Hampshire delegation squared away and now I will think about Wisconsin," he said.

He added that he would be talking to Peterson again this week and to Rep. Melvin Laird, Marshfield, who conceived the favorite son delegation plan.

Stassen said he had been checking with "many friends in Wisconsin on the situation."

Byrnes has agreed to head the rational convention delegate slate so long as it was uncommitted and challenged. He calls Stassen's possible entry "a borderline case."

Cuba Stand
Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., who is among those mentioned as a possible GOP presidential candidate, said at Waukegan Saturday that President Johnson should have taken a stronger stand after Cuba cut off the fresh water supply at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

If necessary, troops should be ordered to surround the source of the Cuban water to show the world, especially this nation's allies in the Western Hemisphere, that the United States is not going to allow its right to be taken away, Morton said at a news conference.

At a later fund raising dinner, he said Democrats are "trying for even greater centralized power in Washington."

Gov. Jack Olson told the 750 dinner guests that "Wisconsin cannot afford the luxury of John Reynolds being governor again." Olson said "the people are tired of taxes and more taxes."

Chilton Collision 1st at Traffic Light Crossing

CHILTON — The first accident since traffic lights were installed at the intersection of Main and Madison streets here occurred at 6:45 p.m. Friday.

Cars driven by Dallas Lehmann, 26, Gary Ind., and Richard T. Petzold, 24, 504 Good St., Chilton, collided at the intersection causing damage estimated at more than $100.

City police said the Lehmann auto was approaching the intersection from the south with the green light and the Petzold car was coming from the north and attempting to turn left when the collision occurred.

Youth Center Names Ping Pong Winner

KAUKAUNA — Twenty-two boys entered the Youth Center sponsored ping pong tournament, with Dave Tessen named the winner as he downed Tom Collins in three straight games in the finals.

A series of elimination matches were held, all based on the best of a 5-game set. No matches are scheduled this Wednesday, but the following week action will resume with boys' doubles, girls' singles and mixed doubles.

Wisconsin's Health

Habit of Overeating Can be Detrimental to One's Health

BY CARL N. NEUPERT, M.D.

Stuffing is for the birds.

And it's a good thing to let them have it, too.

Overeating, in fact, is responsible for one of the most serious health problems in our country today — overweight.

But it's a good bet that very few of us will get through the approaching holiday season without eating more than we should.

Not that there's anything wrong with stuffing ourselves — once or twice a year. We're only harming our health, though, if we let such unwise eating practices become a habit.

And it's a habit that must be easy to harbor. According to some estimate, 10 to 15 per cent of our entire adult population is overweight — possibly enough to impair their health.

For it's just plain unhealthy to be fat. Obesity aggravates heart disease, and it occurs as much as 50 per cent more often among the overweight. High blood pressure and other circulatory disorders also strike obese people earlier and oftener than persons whose weight is normal.

Diabetes More Frequent

Diabetes, too, is more frequent, appears earlier, and is more severe among the overweight, while gall bladder disease, even joint disorders and hernias, are also more prevalent with this group.

Despite its seriousness, overweight is a problem that can be cured. Certainly it's best to avoid obesity in the first place; most of us could control our weight merely by informing ourselves on our basic nutritional needs and then modifying our choice of foods to keep the calories down.

In most cases this would mean a change in food habits — eating a little less, eliminating high calorie items, and emphasizing instead such plainer basics as meat, eggs, skim milk, vegetables, and fruits.

And of course a person who's seriously overweight should consult his physician for a recommended diet before starting to reduce.

Feasting is an important part of the stuffing — when it's found in the foul, but not with all Yule celebrations, and so on.

Preschoolers to Have First Valentine Party

FREMONT — The first Valentine party for many youngsters will be held Thursday by the preschool reading group at the Fremont State Graded School.

The party is being given by Mrs. Theodore Lantvi. Mrs. Roy Reichenbach and Mrs. Allen Schaefer, mothers who have been conducting the reading classes.

A Valentine box and a listing of the names for the children in the classes has been prepared for the party.

New Vocal Teacher Starts in Brillion

BRILLION — Mrs. Paula Crawford of Chilton is the new elementary vocal instructor at the Brillion Public School. She assumed her duties Feb. 3, and replaces Mrs. Janice Hoekstra, who recently resigned.

Mrs. Crawford attended Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio and previously taught in Chilton and Port Washington.

World Day of Prayer Service Scheduled

WAUPACA — World Day of Prayer services will be observed Feb. 14 at 2 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of Waupaca.

This will be the interdenominational service, held annually the first Friday in Lent, and is observed by women around the world. The theme for the service will be "Let us Pray."

Clintonville Legion Post Sets February Meeting

CLINTONVILLE — The monthly meeting of the Tilleson-Strehlow-Klitz American Legion Post No. 63 will be at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Veterans Memorial building.

A report on the fishing jam-boree will be given. Memberships for the year will be concluded Thursday night.

Nelsonville Group to Serve Pancake Supper

AMHERST — Members of the Nelsonville Volunteer Fire Department will serve a pancake supper Tuesday in the dining hall of the Nelsonville Lutheran Church. The benefit supper will consist of pancakes, sausages, applesauce, cake, cookies and coffee. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

Tomorrow River Pupils Given Tests

AMHERST — Mental maturity tests have been completed in the elementary department of the Tomorrow River Schools, according to Norman Schuman, elementary supervisor.

Third graders and sixth graders were given tests by Schuman. Grade school teachers administered the progress tests from the basic reading series. All grades will take the Metropolitan achievement tests at a later date.

Youth Unhurt as Car Rolls Over

NEW LONDON — An 18-year-old New London youth escaped injury at 12:40 a.m. Saturday when he lost control of a car he was driving and rolled over three-quarters of a mile west of here on State 54.

Larry E. Guerin, 616 Broad St., told city police he was traveling east when he lost control on a curve. The car went off the pavement on the right side of the road then back over the highway and rolled over in the north ditch.

Clintonville Church Sets Lenten Schedule

CLINTONVILLE — Lenten services at St. Martin's Lutheran Church will be each Wednesday at 6:30 and 8 p.m., and each Thursday at 6:30 p.m. This p.m. Wednesday in the Chamber year's theme is "The Hands of office. Officers will be elected at this meeting."

Library Fines on Overdue Books Dropped for Week

KAUKAUNA — In an effort to get back some of the volumes long overdue at the public library, Richard Rademacher, new head librarian, has set this week aside for patrons to return books without penalty.

Books overdue for only a few days or for a long period of time all will be accepted with no fines assessed. Patrons may drop the volumes in the book return box outside the library or turn them in at the desk.

Rademacher asked cooperation of library patrons in checking book shelves and other places at home to ascertain whether they may have inadvertently kept a book from the public library.

K of C to Hear Barbershoppers

KAUKAUNA — "The Captivators," a quartet from the Kaukauna-Little Chute SPEBSQSA, will entertain at a meeting of the Knights of Columbus at 8 tonight at the new clubrooms. Plans will be announced for a forthcoming "Couple's Crusade for the Greater Love of God" to be sponsored by the unit. Members of visiting quartet are: Bill Goetz, Carl Schumacher, Jim Vander Pas and Ron Hietpas.

Lunch and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Homme Home Staff Finishes Classes

WITTENBERG — Robert Adams, Vernon Jorgenson, Harry Krummle and David Smith of the staff at Homme Home for Boys have completed a seven-week course sponsored by the University of Wisconsin.

The four have been attending classes at the University Extension in Milwaukee on institutional care for children and youth.

Smith and Jorgenson will continue to attend classes there on Tuesdays, taking a course in abnormalities in child development.

Protesting Federal Taxes

Atty. Gen. George Thompson's proposal that several other midwestern states join Wisconsin in protesting federal income taxes levied on state employees may at least have the effect of making us realize once again the immensity of the federal taxing program. In fact, this recognition alone may have been the attorney general's aim since a similar proposal several years ago lost in the courts.

Over the years, Wisconsin and many midwestern states have been by-passed in the location of federal projects apparently because we did not bleat as loudly or as effectively as some other parts of the country. With the federal projects went a lot of industry as well as high level educational institutions and some of the best brains in the country. Thompson is right in calling attention to the fact that the income taxes of Wisconsin residents have helped to pay for the projects which have put us in unfair competition.

It also is obvious that taxes upon income, particularly those which are withheld by law by the employer, come to be largely the burden of the employer, whether it is the state or a private firm. Some businesses have gone to a lot of work to convince employees how much of their wages go for taxes, but in general it still is the take home pay which has major impact.

If all federal projects were really determined upon need or the desirability of the location, we would not protest so much. We even can go along with proposals to tax the residents of the entire country for aid to those living in poverty whatever their state. But the pork barreling still goes on in congress. And every time some unneeded project is given funds, our system of government gets the blow.

We do not expect the attorney general's proposal to get very far. But it is well for all of us to realize that the money we collected ourselves could have put up the MURA project which we lost.

What Makes a Vice President?

The controversy over who will be the Democratic nominee for the vice presidency continues with trial balloons wavering in the breeze in half a dozen parts of the country. Since there seems to be a tendency to believe that President Johnson is a shoo-in for four years of his own in the White House, there is as much concern over his choice of a running mate as over who will be the Republican presidential candidate. But unfortunately the qualifications of the man for the office—or the one he conceivably might inherit — are seldom taken into consideration.

In the last decade, Americans should have had enough experience with the impermanence of the presidency to recognize the importance of the man who is elected vice president. President Eisenhower had two serious illnesses, either of which could have been fatal, and during his convalescence the major duties and responsibilities of his office fell upon Richard Nixon. The man we might have thought most unlikely to be in office was shot by a sniper. And President Johnson had a severe heart attack a few years ago.

Nevertheless, the qualification that is most widely discussed in connection with a vice presidential candidate is what strength he will add to the ticket. His religion is important now that it no longer is a political liability to be a Catholic. The part of the country he hails from is supposed to balance President Johnson's southwestern ranch. He is supposed to be a liberal, not because of policies he might inaugurate but because the President is considered more of a conservative. And always of importance is his relationship to the assassinated president, a tie that is supposed to carry an emotional impact that will go with the voter into the polling booth. And so the front runners, for one of these reasons are thought to be relatives Robert and Teddy Kennedy and Sargent Shriver, liberal Hubert Humphrey, Catholics Eugene McCarthy and Pat Brown and even New York Mayor Robert Wagner, who is in the politically enviable position of being a Catholic with a Quaker wife.

The individual's additions to the ticket are not totally irrelevant of course; the ticket must be elected if the true qualifications for the offices are to be worth anything. But it is discouraging that practically nothing has been written about the abilities of the front runners in government. We have heard a great deal about the differing philosophies of Sen. Goldwater and Gov. Rockefeller. Why not something about the man who might become the Democratic nominee for vice president?

The choice of a running mate is largely up to the man who is nominated for the presidency. This practical fact makes a mockery of the change in the Constitution of succession to the office to try to prevent a chief executive from in effect choosing his successor. But the only way the American people can influence the choice is to make it clear that they are concerned about the qualifications of the vice presidential choice for facing the tremendous problems of the nation.

We are now in the process of finding out whether John Kennedy's choice of Lyndon Johnson was a wise one. We do not know the primary motivating factors for his decision. But President Johnson at least had had wide experience in government which is more than many of today's prospects for the office have had.

Need Timetable for College Avenue Work

Time is drawing near for city officials to give serious thought to setting a definite timetable for the reconstruction of College Avenue, including new underground utilities, pavement and sidewalks.

Much was accomplished during the past year in getting several municipal projects off the drawing boards and there is evidence of progress all around us.

Construction of the big Walnut sewer project is continuing through the winter months and the target date for completion is mid-April. This project was a "must" before anything could be done to the College Avenue business district.

And, by this summer, construction of the Washington-Franklin Street extension should be underway and completed before the end of the year, the project representing a giant stride in improving Appleton's traffic situation.

The new No. 1 fire station also is in the process of being built and will be completed this fall.

So, the logical question now appears to be, "When College Avenue?" By mid-summer, or even earlier if possible, it might be well for officials in the Department of Public Works and the Common Council to go on record establishing a timetable for the long-awaited streamlining of the city's main business artery.

After that it will be up to the merchants to be prepared for the major improvement.

Round-Up of Union Expeditions

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. 25, 1864.

Naval Expedition on the Mississippi — Cairo — The new gunboat Ozark of the Monitor class, 160 feet long, has arrived in St. Louis. The United States rump Monarch also is here. The Sultan and other steamers of the largest class also were pressed into service for the Government yesterday (Feb. 16). The same has been done at Memphis. This, together with the fact that Adm Porter is about to start down the river indicates important movements, perhaps in the direction of the Red River.

The Expedition in Mississippi — Memphis — The cavalry expedition under Gen. W. L. Smith, having been delayed, awaiting the arrival of Waring's Division of cavalry from the north, started for Collierville Feb. 11. They camped last night at Holly Springs and probably will be heard of next through rebel sources somewhere near the vitals of that struggling carcass.

Gen. Sherman's army reached Jackson, Miss., on the evening of the 4th inst. after some skirmishing with the main body of the enemy.

We possess both Jackson and Yazoo City, the latter being captured by the gunboats. It is to be made a base for supplies.

We captured a rebel battery and some prisoners on the south bank of the Yazoo. The Rebel force at Jackson has crossed the Pearl River and skedaddled. Sherman was to move eastward in a day or two.

Allen-Scott Report

U. S. Agrees to Negotiate Three Thorny Issues on Panama Canal

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Behind that uneasy on-and-off accord with Panama was a U.S. agreement to negotiate three thorny issues, as follows:

1) An increase in the present annual $2 million payment in Canal tolls to Panama. The latter wants at least $5 million.

2) Ceding to Panama an unspecified amount of so-called unused land from the 10-mile-wide Canal Zone.

3) Thinning out the 6,000 U.S. employees in Panama, and replacing them with Panamanians trained in a special U.S.-financed program.

These terms were concluded by Army Secretary Cyrus Vance and Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Mann in a series of conferences with President Chiari and his lieutenants. The agreement was made with the full knowledge and approval of President Johnson, who was kept fully informed of every stage of the tough deliberations.

While the understanding contained no direct mention of revision of existing treaties, the unannounced terms definitely imply that. The treaties will have to be revised to deal with the projected changes.

In effect, Vance and Mann admitted that in their closed-door meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

BLUNT NOTICE ON FLAGS

Vance told the subcommittee, which has jurisdiction over Latin American affairs, that he had served blunt notice on U.S. employees in Panama that the Panamanian flag must be flown with that of the U.S. in accord with previous agreements made by Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy. It was refusal to abide by that which touched off the costly rioting.

Senator Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowa, senior Republican, strenuously objected to Vance's edict. Hickenlooper contended the U.S. should stand pat and not permit itself to be "pushed around."

"Why are things like this always happening to us?" he demanded. "I was in Panama a few days before the riot and there was no sign of any trouble brewing. How and why did this come about? Why should we always be on the receiving end? The time is long overdue for the U.S. to take a firm stand. Above all, there should be no renegotiating of existing treaties."

Senator Morse sided with Secretary Vance, arguing "an agreement is an agreement, and the only honorable thing we can do is live up to it. We agreed to fly the Panamanian flag, and we must abide by that. If the Americans down there don't want to do that, they should be gotten rid of, and the sooner the better."

This view was vigorously seconded by Senate Democratic Leader Mansfield, Mont. He approved Vance's decision on the flag flying, and asserted that violation of this edict "cannot be tolerated."

Morse indicated he contemplates further discussions on the Panama situation, and that other officials of the State and Defense Departments will be summoned for questioning. NEED NEW CANAL

The Oregonian also held that the time has come for serious consideration of the construction of a new and more modern sea-level canal.

"The Panama Canal has outlived its usefulness," he maintained. "Militarily it's of little use to us. Our big aircraft carriers and other crucial naval vessels no longer can use it. That's why the Navy has to maintain an Atlantic and Pacific fleet. I am just as apposed as anyone else to being pushed around by Panama or any other country."

"At the same time, we must face up to realities. New conditions and circumstances prevail, militarily, politically and economically. There is immediate need for a new sea-level canal that can handle the giant ships that no longer can traverse the Panama Canal. This new canal should be built not by the U.S. but as a hemispheric canal."

"This new canal should be built by the Alliance for Progress with the assistance and collaboration of all the countries of the Western Hemisphere. The project should be self-liquidating. That kind of canal would pull the rug out from under the Communists. It would take the stigma of colonialism off of us, and it's time we did that. The U.S. doesn't need a canal. The Western Hemisphere does, and that's the kind of canal we should bend all our efforts to creating."

Secretaries Vance and Mann made no comment on these militant views.

Touch of Old China Growing

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — There's a bit of old China growing in nearby New Kent County.

Paul Ligh, who operates a Chinese restaurant, raises his own vegetables for his Oriental dishes.

For instance, he grows snow peas for moo goo gai pan, a concoction of boiled chicken, mushrooms, chestnuts and other vegetables.

His Chinese winter melons are used for a highly spiced soup or as an ersatz squash dish.

His Chinese salad, "like parsley, almost," is used in nearly every Oriental dish he serves.

Ligh grows the vegetables on the farm of a friend.

He admits to serving chop suey and chow mein, two dishes he says are about as Chinese as fried chicken and grits. And he also serves spaghetti — with a Chinese influence, of course.

Hanson's Pledge to Back Reynolds Points To Democratic Split

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The pledge by Chairman Louis Hanson of the Democratic state committee to support Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds for re-election must rank as one of the provocative political incidents of the infant campaign season.

Wyngaard

Hanson's public pledge given at a meeting of Democrats in Brown County, most of whom are fast friends of the governor, showed something of his worry, perhaps, about the impressions created by the recent ruckus about the control of the state organization in which he clearly lost to Pat Lucey, the national committeeman.

The situation recalls the problems of politicians in older times, who occasionally found it expedient to appear more royalist than the king.

For Hanson to find it necessary to declare his backing for the incumbent governor of his party is like Republican Chairman Talbot Peterson declaring that he intends to support the Republican nominee. The news agencies would find such a development news worthy too, and Democrats would blink.

DIVISION

It cannot be disguised that the Democrats contemplate a new campaign season with their campaign organization, however its size or effectiveness may be measured, badly splintered because of top-side rivalries that are more serious than the chief party spokesmen like to admit although some of the bitter public statements have been revelatory enough.

Essentially the difficulty arises out of a long-standing quarrel between Lucey and Sen. Gaylord Nelson. The Hanson dispute with Lucey, and the implicit Hanson disagreement with Gov. Reynolds, flow from the Lucey-Nelson troubles which have continued for several years and probably date from the time that Nelson became the gubernatorial nominee in 1958 while Lucey was running the party show.

There is no sign that political beliefs are involved. No one can say that Nelson is more liberal than Lucey, on the record. Their quarrel stems from a personal incompatibility that is not easy for outsiders to understand. Nelson is evidently convinced, as his staunchest supporters tell it, that Lucey is his inplacable enemy. Whatever Lucey may think about the junior senator, and under the circumstances he is probably equally resentful, he has been more careful about communicating.

OUTCOME?

In the first heat of his disappointment about Hanson's failure to carry his wishes at the last meeting of the party state committee, Nelson threatened to run against Lucey for the national committee job at the party state convention in the spring.

Such a contest would open a fissure in the Democratic organization that probably could not be healed. For Lucey would not take such a challenge lying down. Reynolds has made it absolutely clear that he prefers Lucey as an ally, if he must choose. The governor and Lucey now control the state committee. Under such circumstances Hanson, loyal to Nelson, would probably find his chair untenable. Parenthetically, he has left the impression that he would be happy to run again for congressman in the tenth district, if he can retire gracefully.

Nelson could make a bruising fight. He is genuinely popular with the party's rank and file. He has good publicity resources.

But he could not be sure of winning, against the combined influence of Reynolds, Lucey and Proxmire, and the indicated preference of the White House and the national committee for the status quo. If he won he would have the satisfaction of making himself "boss," a dubious additional honor for a man already holding one of the highest offices available.

Strictly Personal

Heavy Drinker Senses Truth About Others

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It is a commonplace these days to say that the alcoholic drinks so heavily as a means of "escaping" from himself. This is a deductive half-truth: drinking is surely a means of fleeing from oneself, but it is also something more than that.

Harris

Like most fundamental human problems, it is a paradox. Drinking is both an escape from reality, and a flight into reality. Only they are different kinds of reality.

What happens to a man when he drinks a great deal? Two things at once: first, his own identity becomes blurred and fragmented. He loses the "sense of himself." He is unable to see himself, to judge himself, to command or control himself. He relinquishes his internal reality.

A Sixth Sense Secondly, and just as important, he sees the world more sharply, more clearly, more cohesively. He is able to "pick up" things about other people that would never get through to him in sober moments. He can sense inner feelings, hidden attitudes, vibrations of meaning and relationships that are lost to him in his normal state.

"In vino veritas," the Romans used to say—in wine there is truth. The truth apprehended by the drunk is not about himself, but about others.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

The government reports the cost of living hits an all-time peak. Don't worry about inflation, though. As long as the Democrats are in power, they'll manage to call it something else.

Arthur Schlesinger quits the White House to write a book. Politics is half promising what you're going to do—and half finding a publisher who'll let you explain why you couldn't do it.

A man is only young once . . . whereas women make sure they get a fling at it every decade or so.

About the only thing the foreign aid people haven't figured out how to give away is a piece of the national debt.

Organization of Citizens Highway Group Ironic Political Development

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the mild ironies of current state politics is the organization of a new citizens committee to plug for the highway bonding referendum on the spring ballot, resulting from the default of the Wisconsin Good Roads Association which normally is in the forefront of such drives.

Leaders of the association have resolved to maintain a hands-off attitude, although they are not likely to make a public announcement.

Privately sources close to the group supported by the road building and other industries explain the reasons for the withdrawal include the fear the state administration's plan will be defeated in the balloting, and any connection with it might hurt the Association's goals later. The Association is likely to turn up with a plan for a pay-as-you-go road construction acceleration plan, if Gov. Reynolds' bonding proposal goes down, according to these reports.

Jim Mack, the young La Crosse-born Republican politician who was a legislative messenger at the capitol only a few years ago, is rising fast in organization politics. Mack quit his job with the Milwaukee County party committee a few weeks ago to join the Goldwater national campaign machine and has now been assigned by it to liaison work with the Republican National Committee, a responsible job.

Democrats Hopeful

Democrats in Fond du Lac and the sixth district are talking hopefully about inducing Jim Magellas, their congressional nominee in the last two elections, to leave his foreign service assignment for the government to return for another campaign this year. But, there is little chance he will respond to the urging. His current assignment in Yemen will end soon, but he has already asked the State Department for another post, according to reliable sources in Madison.

There has been some curiosity about the fierce in-fighting among Democrats in some of the strongly Republican counties about the control of the local Democratic party machinery in spite of the gloomy outlook for the party in local elections. In some of these incidents, the explanation is to be found in rivalry for the control of national government patronage, including post offices.

Bitter - end opponents of the referral of the state highway bonding issue to a referendum vote in the spring continue to mutter the referendum action of the legislature is probably illegal, but there is no sign of any move to challenge it in the courts. Reliable reports have it that legal counsel for a state highway contractors' group has given it as his professional opinion such a referendum act of the legislature requires the signature of the governor, as does any statutory enactment. He acknowledges there are precedents for the legislative resolution, but points out the question has never been ruled on by the courts. Gov. Reynolds, of course, would have vetoed the proposition had it been sent to him. He regards the submission of the question to a popular vote as intended to thwart his free-way construction plan.

Regrets Decision

Meanwhile Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, the most effective told the conservation commission he regrets his decision to submit the forestry tax increase amendment to the constitution to a ratification vote in the forthcoming April election. A referendum in the fall, he said, probably would have been wiser from the viewpoint of those who want a favorable vote—which includes Alfonsi and most other northerners who recognize the essentiality of the forestry services.

Assemblyman Alfonsi, Republican majority leader of the State Assembly, will announce his candidacy for re-election later this month.

Meanwhile the Vilas County Democratic organization is undergoing a factional fight which has brought an appeal to the time man in the assembly on conservation questions, has state Democratic committee for umpiring. Involved in the ruckus is Herman Jensen, the former Democratic national committeeman.

Rep. Alvin O'Konski, whose political intelligence service in the northern Wisconsin congressional district is highly reliable, regards Louis Hanson, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, as his most likely Democratic opponent in the elections this year.

The supposition squares with the reports circulating in the upper levels of the Democratic party of the state. A Hanson congressional candidacy would mean his retirement from the state committee job and the recruitment of a successor through an agreement of the Nelson and Reynolds sectors of the party.

One man likely to be regarded as leader of the state organization is William Riggins, the young Milwaukee County Democratic chief.

Kaukauna Business Teacher Selected for WEA Panel Program

Miss Catherine Pawelski, business teacher at Kaukauna High School, will participate in the program of the business education division of the Southern Wisconsin Education Association when it convenes for its annual convention in Madison Feb. 21. Miss Pawelski will participate in a panel discussion on "Testing, grading, and achievement standards for shorthand." Specific area of her presentation will be grading in first year shorthand.

Hospital Building Program Approved

GREEN BAY (AP) — Directors of Bellin Memorial Hospital have approved a major building and remodeling program at an estimated cost of nearly $2.5 million.

The program, which will include building additions to serve medical, surgical and obstetrical patients, and a 76-bed unit for long-term care patients, is scheduled to start by July 1.

Medicine Lists Ways To Balk Heart Trouble

What can I do to keep from having a heart attack? This is a question that almost all of us ask sometimes.

Heart disease is a broad term that covers many different types of disorders. Heart and blood vessel ailments are the leading cause of death in the United States. Millions of people are walking around with some sort of heart or circulatory problem. No one can tell you positively that a given pattern of life will prevent a heart attack. There still are many unknowns. But there is enough evidence on the causes of heart attacks to suggest a few fundamentals.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, offers some suggestions.

Worry about "Symptoms" that may or may not be heart disease is futile. Clear away the doubt by consulting your physician. A regular checkup will enable him to discover budding heart problems early.

Regular, moderate exercise to keep physically fit is advised by most health experts. However, the term "moderate" is important, and plenty of rest to ease the work-load on the heart is equally vital.

Keep your weight down. It isn't too difficult to devise a diet that will provide proper nourishment without adding surplus pounds. Ask your doctor what you should weigh and how to reduce if you're overweight.

Tensions and anxieties often aren't easy to reduce or eliminate from your life. But it's wise to try. Adequate vacations each year are important. A relaxing change of pace on weekends helps.

Research studies have analyzed the possible roles of tobacco, dietary fats and other elements in heart disorders. Extensive studies are still under way. If there are doubts in your mind regarding your personal habits, consult your doctor for suggestions on new patterns.

There are some encouraging developments. Most people who have heart attacks recover and can go back to work. High blood pressure usually can be controlled. Recurrent attacks of rheumatic fever, forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, can be prevented. Strokes aren't necessarily hopeless and invalidism can often be reduced or prevented. Heart defects often can be repaired and sections of diseased arteries often can be replaced through surgery. Many patients with circulatory disorders affecting their legs and arms are helped by treatment.

President Lyndon Johnson and the Congress of the United States both have officially proclaimed February, 1964, as American Heart Month, with the President urging the people of the United States to "give heed to the nationwide problem of the heart and blood vessel diseases."

You cannot be certain of preventing heart disease. But you can control or lessen some of the factors that often are associated with a tendency toward heart troubles. Your best course, is to talk it over with your doctor and follow his counsel.

U.S. Tolerance Thought of as 'Weakness'

Advantage Taken Of Reluctance to Take Strong Action

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There is a growing feeling among many members of Congress that the United States is being pushed around in the world and that the self-restraint in American foreign policy which have been exercised in the last few years have been misinterpreted abroad as a sign of weakness and irresolution.

The mere fact that Fidel Castro thought he could taunt the United States by denying water to the Guantanamo Naval Base is a sign of the belligerence that has been developing. It results perhaps from a feeling that under no circumstances will this country invade Cuba.

The United States Naval Base in Cuba—granted a treaty which even the Castro government has not dared to abrogate—can obtain a supply of water from sources other than Cuba itself, but this doesn't erase the significance of Castro's action, bolstered as he is by the knowledge that he has an ally in Moscow.

The United States under the Kennedy administration took a firm position in demanding the removal of the Soviet missiles, but did not follow it up by insisting upon a fulfillment of the conditions originally laid down. There never has been any opportunity given for absolute verification to see whether weapons of various kinds hidden in Cuba could be used against the people of the United States.

Diplomatic Relations
The United States has not considered severing diplomatic relations with Moscow, nor has it insisted upon a cessation of Soviet activities in this hemisphere. There have been denunciations of Communist subversion and of Castro's activity in various Latin-American countries, but the United States has

Management Society Schedules Conference At St. Norbert College

DE PERE—The St. Norbert College Chapter of the Society of the Advancement of Management will hold its annual management conference Feb. 13.

James L. Younk, Green Bay chapter president, has announced the theme of the 1964 conference will be "Structures of Organizations". Businessmen from throughout Northwestern Wisconsin are invited to attend, Younk said. The program will begin in the afternoon and extend through the early evening, concluded by a dinner and talk at the St. Norbert Memorial Union.

Registration is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. in the Memorial Union. Conferences will be held hourly from 1 to 3 p.m. After a 4 p.m. break, two more conferences, at 4:30 and 5:30, will be held prior to the 7 p.m. dinner.

The Law and You

Court Rules Children Can't Trespass on Neighbor's Lawn

Madeline Meanie was upset by the neighborhood children playing in her yard. It seemed as if a troop of kids would storm across her yard every hour of the day. Regardless of how often she yelled at them, they seemed always to return. During the school year her yard was used as a short-cut.

Madeline finally decided that she had had enough. She started a law suit against the children and their parents, seeking damages for the harm done to her property by the children running across it. She also asked for an injunction to stop the children from coming onto her property.

"Our children weren't doing any harm to Mrs. Meanie's property," said the parents. "Children certainly have a right to play outside."

Can Madeline prevent the children from playing in her yard? Children Trespass

Yes, said the court. The children had repeatedly and willfully interfered with and trespassed upon Madeline's property. They also threatened to connot shown any willingness to use its own strength to solve the problem. Instead, there has been a tendency to leave it to the Organization of American States and to a prolonged palaver. The theory is that this is a better way to maintain friendship with other Latin-American countries.

But gradually respect for the United States government itself diminishes when it fails to stand up for its own rights. Even in Latin-American countries there were prominent persons who felt last year that the United States had not handled the Cuban problem effectively when it did not achieve the right of inspection, even by the United Nations, to determine whether the missiles had actually been removed.

Throughout Latin America, since October 1962 more and more hostility to this country has been stirred up. Even a little nation like Panama dared to take a chance and antagonize the United States, perhaps knowing that it would get a good deal of sympathy in other Latin-American countries because malcontents there could be depended upon to stimulate demonstrations against the Washington administration.

Castro Challenge
Under such circumstances, the United States now can hardly ignore the challenge which Castro has flung. To face up to it is as important as the demand in 1962 that the missiles be removed. Sooner or later a decision has to be proclaimed that Castro not only must respect the treaty rights of the United States in the naval base at Guantanamo but must stop infiltrating Latin-American countries and respect the sovereignty rights of other nations.

Even more important at the moment is the attitude that the countries in western Europe have taken toward Cuba. First, the British, and now the French, have agreed to supply Castro with buses for his internal transportation needs. It is argued that these are not part of any war apparatus. But the shipments do constitute in the aggregate a contribution to the United States, which has been trying to isolate Cuba on the economic side.

Cuba Attitude
If the western Allies cannot show any more solidarity than they have concerning Cuba, then it is time perhaps for America to determine how much it can afford to do hereafter with its military forces to support governments in Europe that refuse to reciprocate by supporting the policies of the United States in this hemisphere.

Much of the blame for the attitude of France and Great Britain rests, however, upon the administration in Washington, because a few weeks ago it agreed to the sale of American wheat to the Soviets. The moment that deal was announced and it was revealed that the government here would actually help finance these transactions, the lid was off in Europe. The commercial spirit gained ascendancy in France and England, just as it had in the United States with respect to the sale of wheat to the Communists.

These blunders can be rectified only by adhering to a policy of economic blockade and insisting that, if other nations attempt to break it, a naval blockade will be established. This is the only language that the Russians understand and that Castro understands. Such a move also would have a salutary effect on the attitude of western enemies, at 4:30 and 5:30, will be held prior to the 7 p.m. dinner.

in such trespasses. In light of these facts, the court found the children guilty, but assessed damages at only 6 cents. The court also granted an injunction against the children and their parents, preventing them from continuing to trespass upon Madeline's property. The court said that under the facts and circumstances in this case the equitable remedy of restraining the children from continuing such trespasses is the only adequate remedy to protect Madeline against invasion of her legal rights. Madeline won the case.

Food Company Seeks to Build In Minnesota

Had Scrapped Plans For New Plant at Mauston, Wis.

HALLOCK, Minn. (AP)—Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., a frozen food processing firm which two weeks ago scrapped plans for a $27 million plant at Mauston, Wis., is negotiating for a plant here, a Hallock attorney said Sunday.

Dennis Sobolik said that a meeting has been scheduled with Ore-Ida representatives who had been in the area during October and November.

Planned Construction

The company had planned construction of a potato processing plant at Mauston, but on Jan. 28 announced that the project had been cancelled.

Mauston area residents had raised $202,000 for the project, which also had received a $18 million loan from the federal Area Redevelopment Administration.

Sobolik said he and several partners had formed the Northern Farms, Inc., and had taken an option on 5,000 acres of potato land in Kittson County. The county is in northwestern Minnesota in the Red River Valley potato country.

Potato Shortage

Sobolik said the project involves a potato storage and conditioning warehouse worth "in the neighborhood of $300,000, which can be purchased by Ore-Ida at reasonable cost."

The letter, written by company president F. Nephi Grigg of Ontario, Ore., said, "We have paid by check the fine people of the... Greater Mauston Area Development Corp. for their out-of-pocket expenses incurred in promoting the proposed project."

The letter cites the high cost of Wisconsin potato growing as one reason for cancellation of the Mauston project.

and non-union workers The railroad now has a work force of about 700.

—The Florida East Coast Railway was authorized to move freight trains into the Merritt Island moonport today and striking railroad workers immediately established picket lines at all entrances to the moonport and Cape Kennedy.

Traffic tieups occurred at all entrances as the morning shift appeared for work. However, authorities said it would be at least mid-morning before it could be determined how many workers honored the picket lines.

Facilities are being built at Merritt Island for launching American astronauts to the moon.

If a substantial number honor the lines, missile testing and construction work would be crippled.

Douglas-Home Starts His Canadian Visit

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Great Britain began a two-day visit to Canada today, a prelude to a Washington visit that may explore the current state of relations with the Soviet Union.

The talks with President Johnson begin Wednesday after Douglas-Home and Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson discuss trade problems and the Cyprus situation.

London informants said Douglas-Home intends to urge a new Allied approach to the Soviet Union on the German problem.

British and U.S. trade policies affecting Red China, Cuba and the Soviet Union also are expected to be explored.

U. S. Tries to Calm Cypriot Factions

ATHENS (AP)—An intensive U.S. drive to calm the Cyprus crisis centered today in Athens.

Undersecretary of State George Ball, acting as President Johnson's trouble shooter, held a series of conferences in London Sunday, then flew to Athens and opened talks with U.S. ambassadors to Greece, Turkey, and Cyprus and Greek officials. From Athens he goes to Turkey.

Ball's aim is to win acceptance of a plan for an international peace force, dominated by British and American troops, to keep the peace on Cyprus. The island republic has been torn by fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Reds See Khrushchev
In another development, Communist North Vietnamese leaders visiting Moscow conferred over the weekend with Premier Khrushchev in talks that Pravda said displayed "comradely frankness and friendship."

Le Suon, North Viet Nam Communist party boss, headed the delegation. No details of the talks were given.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, charged as the talks in the Kremlin ended, that South Vietnamese planes strafed and bombed a village in neighboring, neutral Cambodia and a South Vietnamese land penetration of Cambodia was repulsed.

The Tass account said three women and two children were killed and that Prince Sorodom Sihonouk of Cambodia had warned of serious consequences.

said Martin was pronounced more than a thousand posters dead on arrival at a Manitowoc hospital. Death was attributed to a skull fracture.

Martin, for 20 years a prominent Kiel attorney, was returning to his home at Shawano after visiting his daughter at Sheboygan.

Both cars were demolished in the crash, which took place shortly after 7 p.m.

A rural Mishicot man and his wife were found dead in their car Sunday morning, victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

John Yanda, 37, and his wife, Audrey, 33, parents of five children, were found about 9:30 Sunday morning in their car which was parked in the garage at the family's home at Mishicot, route 1.

Manitowoc County authorities said the couple had attended a dance at Francis Creek Saturday night and apparently died after returning home about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Their bodies were found by Yanda's mother who went out side to check the garage Sunday morning after she discovered the couple had not returned.

Mrs. Yanda had been baby-sitting.

Still Seated
The bodies were found still seated in the front seat of the car. Manitowoc authorities said injuries described as not critical.

Father's Search For Retarded Son Has Tragic Ending

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y.

(AP)—For six weeks, Frank O'Neill had walked miles each day in search of his mentally retarded son, James, 23, who disappeared two days after Christmas. O'Neill distributed

"I just can't give up," he said a month ago. "He might just be wandering around. Or he might have been hurt and is in a hospital."

Sunday, two 13-year-old boys fishing in Mill Creek, near the O'Neill home in this Long Island village, snagged their lines on the body of young O'Neill.

Police said he apparently fell into the creek while taking a walk the day he disappeared.

They had no idea why the pair remained in the car. There was no sign of violence, police said.

Virgil Wallace, 22, of Winthrop Harbor, Ill., was injured fatally early today when the car he was driving left Highway 32 about four miles south of Kenosha and struck a tree and a utility pole. He was alone.

Mrs. Milton Legate, 23, of Hartford, was killed Sunday night when a car driven by her husband skidded on icy pavement and struck a tree west of West Bend on Highway 33.

Mrs. Shirley Wegner, 36, of Lac du Flambeau, died Sunday shortly after a car in which she was a passenger and a North Western train collided at Lac du Flambeau. Her husband, Ed, was hospitalized with injuries described as not critical.

Bomb Threat at Shorter

White Students Boycott Notasulga High School

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—The the mayor said, "that it would entire white student body boy-be unsafe for the Negroes to be cotted Notasulga High School in there. If the attendance gets down below the danger point—gation today while at nearby Shorter, the integrated high school was closed because of a bomb threat."

Only six white pupils out of a student body of about 125 showed up at Shorter, where a spreading boycott also gained rapid momentum.

School Closed
The school was closed for the day after a telephoned bomb threat, but there was no disorder. Six Negroes have attended Shorter High since last Wednesday.

None of the six Negro pupils assigned by a federal court to Notasulga High made an attempt to enter the school when it reopened today after a two-day shutdown resulting from a fire.

Only one white pupil came to school at Notasulga High and he left immediately when he learned he was the only one there.

Rea said that with the boycott, there was no longer a crowded condition and that there would be no need for further use of a new city fire prevention ordinance. It was used to stop the Negroes when they first appeared last week.
